CHICAGO.

THE CHICAGO PRODUCE TRADE.

The receipts of Produce during the past week show a very material increase, especially in wheat. They are as follows:—Flour, 10,454 bbls.; Wheat, 83,004 bu.; Corn, 77,335 bu; Oats, 17,334 bu.; Rye, 684 bu.; and Barley, 1,722 bu.

The shipments during the week were:—Flour, 10,819 bbls; Wheat, 38,562 bu; Corn, 86,255 bu; Barley 220 bu.

The markets during the past week have been kept in a state of feverish excitement, on account of the warlike news from Europe. In flour and wheat there has been a strong speculative feeling. Flour advanced 75c to $1—and has been tolerably steady at the advance. Wheat, however, has been unsettled and sensitive to an extreme degree—the slightest item of news favorable to a protracted war raising the wildest excitement, and the most trifling indication of peace, causing an uncalled for and unnatural depression. The market cannot therefore be said to have advanced materially during the week—for although it touched $1.73 for Red Wheat yesterday morning, after the receipt of the Borussia's news, to-day it fell back to $1.63. The Corn market has been active, and a gradual advance has been established during the week of 7 to 8c per bushel, under a good shipping demand. Oats have advanced 3 to 4c. Barley was in good demand and advanced 7 to 8c. There has been a strong speculative inquiry for Highwines, and the market advanced yesterday 3 to 4c—closing, however, rather quiet.

LATER—A PANIC.

Late last evening, the dispatches by the steamer Vigo were received, indicating a heavy decline in breadstuffs. The news caused a frightful panic among the holders of wheat and large quantities were immediately thrown on the market, which declined rapidly 8 to 10c on the closing prices on 'Change.—No. 1 Red Wheat selling as low as $1.55, and Standard and Spring at $1.15—a decline of fifteen to eighteen cents per bushel since yesterday noon.

West Side Horse Railways.

Living upon the West Side, we naturally feel an interest in those matters which affect us in the part of the city where we reside, in common with other residents. Among the many improvements at the present time going on in our city, there are none which in general utility exceed the Horse Railways; they are so far preferable to the lumbering omnibus, with its high steps, close quarters, and in spite of the best intentions of owners, necessarily liable to vexatious detentions and delays. The smooth gliding of the rail car is in most pleasing contrast with the ship-in-storm motion of the omnibus; and the pleasure of such a conveyance should be brought if possible within the reach of every person who resides upon the great thoroughfares of our city, not only for the benefit of our business men, who on their way to their offices and stores can at their ease look over the morning papers in the car, but for the working man, whose limited means and large family compel him to reside on the outskirts of our city, where the distance from the place of his labor superadds to his ten hours' toil a walk of many weary miles. What the great lines of railway have done to equalize the relative values of farming lands in the country and in the vicinity of our great cities, Horse Railways are now doing to equalize, for the masses, the expenses of living in the heart and suburbs of our city. This aid contributed by Horse Railways to the laboring portion of our community can hardly be estimated; but it is so great that every person who desires the greatest good for the people, should promote their extension by every means in his power.

But, while we give due praise to the beneficial influences of horse railways, we should not forget what we owe to the omnibus that preceded them. The pioneers in the establishment of omnibus routes in our city, and particularly upon the West Side, deserve the hearty thanks of the community that they have so faithfully served for so long a period. The Messrs. Walkers established their routes on the West Side in the face of every discouragement, and they continued to run their omnibusses in spite of daily losses, hoping for the good time coming, and have furnished, from the time they commenced, excellent vehicles, good horses, and faithful drivers. Their employees have always done their duty, and if on a rainy day they have taken in thirty "inside," it was because they sought to do all they could to serve their patrons. These gentlemen have embarked a large amount of capital in their omnibus business, which, in the manner they have carried it on is very extensive. They grudged no expense in the purchase of new carriages, and the increase of the frequency of their trips to accommodate every one that resided upon the routes of their omnibuses.

The Messrs. Walker with that public spirit and just appreciation of the wants of the people, which has always distinguished them in their city enterprises, applied to other capitalists to join them, and did, at the last session of the Legislature, make an application for a charter for a horse railway—an open one—allowing all persons to subscribe for the stock that might please; they asked for no exclusive privilege for themselves and associates. This application, unfortunately for the interests of the West Division fell through by reason of the illness of E. S. Hays, Esq., who had charge of their interests. Thus the West Division suffered doubly, in the illness of one of its most prominent citizens and the loss of a charter for a necessary railway.

They have, and we think successfully, endeavored to keep up with the requirements of travel on the West side. Now, a change is rapidly and surely taking place; their lines of carriages must give place to the car and iron track. The necessities of our citizens demand it as imperatively now, as a few years since they demanded the aid of Messrs. Walkers' "busses," to save them from the mud.

In this state of things ought not those whom the Messrs. Walker have so faithfully served and accomodated, to do what they can to save them from the losses incident upon so radical a change as that from the Omnibuses to the horse railway. As they have been the pioneers in the hard times of "Bussing," ought they not to be permitted to replace their Omnibuses by the Railway. If anything is to be made by the change, who deserves to make it better than they? They have served the people of the West Division at a loss, ought they not to be permitted to serve them when that service may be of advantage to themselves? We think so, and we do not believe that there can be found in the West Division any man, whose judgment is not warped by his interest, that would say otherwise. But we regret to say that the intention of the Messrs. Walker to replace their line of Omnibuses by the Railway is now attempted to be thwarted by persons, who can ask of the people of the West Division but little upon the score of benefits conferred.

At the same session other parties with an eye single to their own interests, obtained from the Legislature, a confirmation of the close corporate privileges granted them by our City Council. They had hoped to have consummated their particularly close designs by the aid of the Council alone, but Judge Manierre for a time blocked their game, and as far as in him laid, sought to prevent the consummation of the iniquity. But the parties with the aid of the Legislature were too much for the Judge and a close corporation is the result, which now claims to control solely and exclusively every horse railway to be built in our city. It would certainly have been better for the interests of the West Division that the injunction granted by Judge Manierre had been made perpetual, than that this close corporation should have sprung into existence, laying claim to such monstrous and unjust powers. We do not see upon what grounds this close corporation founds its modest claims to control every street in our city, and holds out a threat that no one must dare to attempt to build a railway in the city under pain of injunction.

We think that the lessons given them by Judge Manierre should teach them humility; under it they whined terribly, but no sooner do they get the restraint removed, than they they turn around and hold the thing in terrorem over the heads of other parties. We are convinced of one thing, that should the City Council grant to Messrs. Walkers and their associates power to construct horse railways in the West Division over their present omnibus routes, the close corporators would have to call to their aid, some other Judge than his Honor, Judge Manierre. He is the last man that in any way will aid by his judicial power the building up of an unjust monopoly; his sense of justice is too firm, and his knowledge of the right too clear to lend himself to the aid of any enterprise which may even incidentally interfere with the legal rights of others. There is one thing which may be brought to bear upon these grasping gentlemen, who claim our City Streets in perpetuity for their horse railways, and that is, public opinion. If every right minded man will do what he can to put down this claim of theirs, and leave the building and operating of horse railways to open competition, they will soon be brought to their senses, and will recede from their unwarranted and unjust position; but the means of regression must be used now, the monopoly will soon "prove so great" that it can defy all opposition.

FAIR PLAY.

THE WAR QUESTION IN ENGLAND.

Speech of Mr. D'Israeli.

Denies the Reported Alliance Between France and Russia.

The Resources of Great Britain in the Contingency of War.

In a speech delivered at Aylesbury on the 2d, returning thanks to the electors of Bucks for his return to Parliament, Mr. D'Israeli, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, remarked:

* * * There is no treaty existing between France and Russia, there is no secret treaty between France and Russia, there is no secret convention existing between France and Russia. There is between France and Russia what may be called an engagement, which they were not bound in any way to communicate to this country, but which was communicated to this country voluntarily some time ago by the French Minister for Foreign Affairs. It amounted simply to this—that, in case of a war between France and Austria, Russia should assemble an army of observation on her German frontier. Russia has as much right to assemble an army of observation on her German frontier as England has to send, which she is about to send, a commanding fleet to the Mediterranean. Both may be, probably are, means to maintain peace rather than to make war. But I have further to acquaint you that we have felt it our duty not only to request and to receive those communications from the governments of France and Russia, but we have gone even beyond this, and have asked the Russian Goverment what, perhaps, according to the strictness of diplomatic etiquette we were not justified in asking, but which we asked in the confidence of a Power that always acts with frankness and straightforwardness towards her allies, we have asked the Russian Government whether in case of a war between France and Germany they have entered into any engagement to declare war against Germany. And we have received from the Russian Government the most explicit and most unequivocal declaration that no engagement of the kind exists or ever has been asked. * * * Now, I may be asked—and it is a very fair question—what is your opinion of the conflict that has now begun—what will be its effect upon England, and what probability is there of her being drawn into its vortex? Gentlemen, my policy is, I believe, the policy of every sound headed man in this country. The policy of England is eminently one of peace. (Cheers.) Her interference in other States, in order to change their domestic institutions, or to influence their internal affairs, whatever may be its motives, is, I think, invariably a mistake. But although the interest as well as the policy of England is peace, it is of the utmost importance that she should be prepared for war. (Cheers.) It is our best security for our tranquility and for the tranquility of Europe, that England should show that she is a Power which can assert her influence at a moment with effect. Well, what is our present condition in that respect? Have we been caught napping? I have no wish now to claim any merit for her Majesty's government to which they are not entitled. I am quite sure that, whoever might have been the Ministers of the Queen, their foreign policy would have been exactly the same as ours, and that, as regards their preparation for eventual dangers and duties, they would have adopted the same course as we have done. It is, therefore, not in any boastful spirit, but with, I hope, the becoming pride of an Englishman speaking to Englishmen, that I tell you what is our situation. You have in India 100,000 seasoned and valiant troops, such as the world, probably, never saw before—certainly equal to that army which Wellington rendered immortal. (Cheers.) A great portion of that force ought to quit India for England. They are at our command, and if they come here it is not from the necessity of this country, but because the happy course of affairs in India and the position of the Indian government make it desirable that they should return home. You have in England itself at this moment 100,000 men, not equal, perhaps to those who have been seasoned in the illustrious campaigns of India, but disciplined, and I need not add brave men, since they are your countrymen. (Cheers.) I was told by one of the honorable gentlemen who preceded me that nothing would satisfy him but that we should have a powerful fleet in the Channel. You will have before six weeks have passed, not only a powerful fleet in the Channel but also a powerful fleet in the Mediterranean. (Cheers.)

The world has been startled by an announcement made within these few days that a great sovereign has gone down to his Council and obtained a vote of twenty millions of money to carry on the war. The world seems quite frightened at a monarch who can raise twenty millions—the funds fall, and everybody thinks that even the independence of England is threatened. What is twenty millions of money by way of loan to carry on a war? It goes like water.—[A voice, but then £800,000,000."] Why, £800,000,000, if owed by an industrious and free people, is quite a flea-bite. (Laughter and cheers.) My friend seems quite frightened by our national debt. ("No, no," and laughter.) Let me tell you how England carries on war.—An Emperor of the French, or of Russia, or of Austria has a loan of twenty millions—all to be spent in a year; and allow me to remind you, that is an experiment which cannot often be repeated. (A laugh.) But what does the Queen of England do? She goes down to her Parliament, and with their concurrence, by one single tax, and that not heavily imposed, can in an emergency raise twenty millions per annum (Cheers.) Why, if the country were in danger, we could, by the aid of the income tax alone—but by levying a simple income tax of ten per cent. we could have twenty millions a year—not in loans, not by borrowing money, not even adding to the terrors of my alarmed friend—(cheers and laughter)—but out of our annual revenue, and all this not grudgingly, but heartily given. And adding to that sum derived from taxation a loan of £20,000,000 a year if you want loans—for England could give the Queen a loan of £20,000,000 per annum for ten years' running if necessity, if the honor of the country required it; and at the end of that period the national resources, instead of being exhausted, would not really be found, considering the circumstances of the case—that the freedom of her people, the independence of her realm and the greatness of her empire were at stake—to have been seriously impaired by such a contribution. (Cheers.) When I know these things, I am not intimidated by the leagues of Kings and Emperors. I know well that, if there is to be a war of nationalities, of opinions and of races—a war of revolution and reconstruction, we shall weather the storm. (Cheers.) It will not be England that will suffer. It is Europe that will be injured, Europe that will be desolated, and the very potentates whose pride, and ambition, and lust of conquest are bringing about this perilous state of affairs, will find themselves at the end in an inferior position to that which they now occupy. (Cheers.) We hear a great deal of the balance of power, of the importance of sustaining certain barriers in Europe, and many other axioms, all of which to a certain degree are true, and which may for a certain time continue to prevail. But let me take this opportunity of impressing upon you that the day is coming, if it has not already come, when the question of the balance of power cannot be confined to Europe alone. Since the time when that doctrine obtained credence, great communities have risen in another hemisphere, who will not permit the balance of power to be limited to Europe. You have on the other side of the Atlantic vigorous and powerful communities, who will no longer submit to your circumscribed theory of authority. The Australian colonies, though now in their youth, but in the youth of giants, have already, as it were, thrown their colossal shadow over Europe. And it is for old Europe I lament that she is exhausting her energies and her resources in these wars. I could wish that she would rather prepare for that awful competition which in coming times she must encounter. I would rather see France, and Germany, and Russia, develop such resources, improve their agriculture, increase their population, and cultivate the arts of life, social and scientific, instead of wasting their strength, risking their ability, and sinking when the era to which I have referred arrives, by their own mismanagement and want of prescience into an inferior and exhausted position. Remember always that England, though she is bound to Europe by tradition, by affection, by great similarity of habits, and all those ties which time alone can create and consecrate, is not a mere power of the Old World. Her geographical position, her laws, her language and religion connect her as much with the New World as with the Old. And although she has occupied not only an eminent, but, I am bold to say, the most eminent position among European nations for ages, still, if ever Europe, by her short-sightedness, falls into an inferior and exhausted state, for England there will remain an illustrious future. (Cheers.) We are bound to the communities of the New World, and those great States which our own planting and colonizing energies have created, by ties and by interests which will sustain our power and enable us to play as great a part in the times yet to come, as we do in these days and as we have done in the past. (Cheers.) And, therefore, now that Europe is on the eve of war, I say it is for Europe, not for England, that my heart sinks. And this I hope, that it will be by the influence of England that the unhappy struggle which has just opened may be one of short duration; that it may be limited in its range and local in its character; and that after some brief encounters of arms both France and Austria may feel that it would be well, by the influence of those who have not been seduced by their political passions, to terminate the strife and secure at the same time the better government of Italy, and the peace of the world. (Cheers.)

[From the London Times, May 3.]

With a passing tribute of admiration to much that is pleasant and eminently patriotic in Mr. Disraeli's address from the hustings at Aylesbury, we proceed at once to a point in which he expressly calls us in question. The first news of the understanding between France and Russia came to us in the ordinary course of Continental intelligence, in the usual way, and without anything to leave its publication even optional upon us. It never occured to us to suppress the accredited truth, or to throw doubts on a matter that came without a doubt. Indeed, in the article of foreign intelligence we have much less choice than some of our readers may suppose. The result shows that we should have gone out of our way and been wise overmuch had we doubted the intelligence. Ministers themselves are forced to admit the fact of "an understanding" or "written agreement," while they exercise all the powers of language to reason the fact away, and make it mean nothing. There is an agreement between France and Russia; that it is confessed. In Prince Gortschakoff's "opinion" it is one that need not be considered hostile to the interests of this country nor to the peace of Europe. For this the Prince gives his "opinion," and his contradiction goes to this: that if upon seeing the agreement we should be of the contrary opinion, in that case Russia would probably be ready to argue that the treaty is not injurious to us in the same sense that a rod does no harm to a naughty boy, or four stone walls are no harm to a man who has broken the laws. There is a treaty, and it is admitted to be a secret treaty. Its matter is such that it is convenient to France and Russia not to publish it for the present, and whatever is published is that part of it which is no longer of consequence. When all this is admitted, we want to know what is denied? Is it simply denied that there is any formal document? If so, between Emperors this denial is not worth much. Is it denied that we are interested in an engagement by Russia to invade Germany under certain circumstances, or to blockade the Prussian ports in the Baltic? That is a matter of opinion, and on that point we beg leave to differ from Prince Gortschakoff and Mr. Disraeli if they hold that we are not concerned.

The Financial Expedients of Austria.

The official Wiener Zeitung publishes the following financial decrees: The income tax of the third class is to be retained by the Pay Office, immediately upon the interest on the public funds being paid. A loan of 200,000,000 fl. (£20,000,000) is ordered, but, as it is for the present impossible to contract it, the National Bank will advance two-thirds of the nominal value of the loan in new notes. The third decree releases the National Bank for the present from the obligation of meeting its notes by specie payments. The fourth decree orders that duties and certain excise duties must for the future be paid in silver, or in payable coupons of the national loan.

Advices from Milan speak of the immense number of troops passing through that city to the Piedmontese frontier, and the Austrian authorities have issued an interdiction to all civilians to proceed there, without especial permission. The Grand Duke Maximilian has left for Venice, and was obliged to wait two hours at Simelo, a station some miles from Milan, so great was the crowd of soldiers coming in the contrary direction on both lines of rail.

STUTTGART, May 2.—The chambers have today unanimously voted the Goverment projects of law for calling out the Landwehr, for a forced levy of horses and for opening a war credit for 7,000,000 florins. The debates which took place expressed sympathy with Austria and indignation at the longing for war manifested by France.

A Paris correspondent says:

"It is said that proclamations have been, or are to be circulated in Hungary, calling upon the people to throw off the domination of Austria. Perhaps Hungary will be offered as a bait to Russia. It is certain, however, that the Cabinet of Vienna professes to feel no alarm about Hungary, and disbelieves the possibility of a rising."

Military Manifesto of the King of Sardinia.

Soldiers! Austria, which increases its army on our frontiers and threatens to invade our territory, because liberty here reigns with order, because not force, but concord and affection between people and sovereign here rule the State, because the cries of suffering of oppressed Italy here find a hearing—Austria dares to intimate to us, armed only in defense, that we are to lay down our arms and put ourselves in her power.

The outrageous intimation called for a worthy reply. I have disdainfully rejected it.

Soldiers! I announce this to you, certain that you will take to yourselves the outrage offered to your King—to the nation. The announcement I gave to you is the announcement of war. To arms, then, soldiers.

You will find yourselves opposed to no new enemy; but, if he be brave and disciplined, you do not fear the meeting, and may boast of the days of Goito, of Pastengo, of Santa Lucia, of Somma Campagna, of Custosa itself, where only four brigades contended for three days with five corps d'armee.

I will be your leader. On former occasions we have known a great part of you in the heat of combat, and I, fighting by the side of my magnanimous father, admired your valor with pride. On the field of honor and of glory you, I am certain, will know how to preserve, and also to increase, your fame as valiant soldiers.

You will have for your companions those intrepid soldiers of France, conquerors in many great battles, whose comrades you were on the Tchernaya, and whom Napoleon III., ever hastening thither where there is a just cause to defend and civilization to uphold (de far prevalere), generously sends to our aid in numerous bands.

Advance, then, confident of victory, and adorn your banner with fresh laurels; that banner which, with its three colors, and with the chosen youth which, here assembled from all parts of Italy, are gathered together beneath it, points out to you that you have for your task the independence of Italy—that just and holy enterprise which will be your war cry.

VICTOR EMMANUEL.

The English Elections.

[From the New York Tribune, 16th.

The latest news from the British elections shows a gain to the Government of some 15 members, in 425 who have been elected. Mr. Bright and Mr. Cobden are both returned; Lord John Russell and Baron Rothschild are again among the members for London. Judge Judge Haliburton is returned from Launceston, and Sir Allen McNab has failed to be returned for Brighton. All the Ministers are returned by their old constituencies; and, what is unexpected, Mr. Bernal Osborne and Sir William Russell are beaten by the Ministerial candidates at Dover. Mr. Layard is also defeated. By the next steamer we shall know decisively what will be the complexion of the new Parliament.

THE CITY.

☞ The piece of legal pleasantry in yesterday's issue was the talk of the Bar and the Courts yesterday. An extra edition of two hundred copies went off like hot cakes.

☞ We learn that Tuesday, June 7th, has been fixed upon as the day for the Installation of Rev. Z. M. Humphrey as Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, in this city.

HOME FOR THE FRIENDLESS.—An adjourned meeting of the Board of Managers will be held this (Wednesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock, to vote finally upon the plan to be adopted for the new building, and to appoint a Building Committee. E. F. DICKINSON, Sec'y.

SENT TO THE REFORM SCHOOL.—A boy named James Smith has been sent, or rather returned to the Reform School, for he had been out of that institution less than a week, for the larceny of a bundle of clothing.

"WHERE ARE THE POLICEMEN?"—Our correspondent must have already ascertained from our last issue that the Mather street fight took the due course of law and its participants were duly arraigned at the Police Court. His criticism hence comes too late.

ASSAULT AND MURDER OF A CANADIAN VISITOR.—A day or two since a Canada Lynx was killed on the Prairie near Bull's Head, by Mr. Adam Hopper of this city. The animal was a female, and measured three feet from the tip of its nose to the tip of its tail, and was two feet four inches in height.

☞ We look upon our day of deliverance as near at hand, Within a week or two we may be able to chronicle the transit of vehicles through from Randolph street to the front of our new premises midway the block. We take courage—the paving has commenced.

☞ Yesterday was a gem of a day, perfection itself, in a metereological point of view. A few weeks of the same kind of weather influences will prove millions of money to the farmers. Last evening the whole town was out of doors, enjoying "etherial mildness" and mellow moonlight.

☞ The Journal chronicles the entrance of an adventurous scamp into their counting-room a night or two since, who thoroughly ransacked it, without large returns. Our neighbor characterizes it as "flat burglary." Had the thief stolen one of their daily issues it would have flat booty.

☞ Amongst the prudent things done by the New York Legislature was the passage of an act to provide against unsafe buildings in the city of New York, by requiring substantial foundations and a proper thickness of the walls. Some such rule in force in our city would be a better safeguard than we now have against accidents that seem to await only a small inciting cause to launch their perils upon property and life exposed.

SPRING FLORAL EXHIBITION.—The first of the series of free monthly Floral and Horticultural Exhibition, under the auspices of the Chicago Gardeners' Society, takes place at Mechanics' Institute Hall to-day, commencing at 11 A. M. and closing at 4 P. M. We are glad to see this devotion to one of the noblest of the fine arts, and hope that such attractions (and that free, also, will be remembered by our citizens to-day

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—We are indebted to Sherlock, he of the Antiquarian book store, near the post-office, for an excellent military map of Sardinia and a part of Lombardy—the seat of the present war. It is a French map, dedicated to Napoleon I, showing, on a large scale, the geography of his operations in Italy in 1796 to 1801. At this time, such an authority is invaluable. Whatever is curious and elsewhere unprocurable, Sherlock is sure to have.

THE ARCTIC PANORAMA.—It is a pleasing evidence of the correct taste of a community that fosters and encourages the fine arts, and we are gratified in recording the undoubted success in this city of the above exhibition. Such displays, blending real information with rational and refined pleasure may be made the means of exerting a solid and beneficial influence upon society. The incidents illustrated with such life-like fidelity are calculated to awaken a lively interest in the great American heart. There will be exhibitions for school children on Thursday and Friday afternoons, at 4 o'clock, and Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Only 10 cents each.

☞ The astute genius who does the local for the "Evening chips" continues to chatter about the PRESS AND TRIBUNE being sold on the "Inundation of Michigan City," published April 1st. He has repeated this silly statement at least a dozen times. Our readers will recollect that at the bottom of the communication giving the account of the "great inundation," was appended the following editorial remark:

Unless our readers have as capacious a maw as the writer of the above represents Lake Michigan to possess, they will probably find some difficulty in swallowing this story entire. Had the writer delayed his account until this, (Friday morning, April 1,) he doubtless would not have considered necessary to spell his name backwards as he has done.—EDS. P. & T.

But in the face of this very plain "cue" to the hoax, the chips chap persists that we were "sold"! It is hard to convince a fool of his folly.

SEWING MACHINES—WHEELER & WILSON.—Wheeler and Wilsons Sewing Machines are going into general family use. We are informed by their General Agent, Geo. R. Chittenden, that the Company have within the past year paid cash $26,000 to secure for their machines improvements such as would make these admirable machines still more valuable.

The Manufacturing Company at Bridgeport Conn., occupy one acre of ground, every foot of which is used in carrying on their operations. They are extending their establishment to twice the size it now is, and contemplate having the addition completed and in full operation by next fall.

In stead of the present capital of quite half a million of dollars invested, that sum will be doubled and instead of one hundred machines being made per day (as now the fact, and still below the demand) they will then be able to make four times that number daily.

As to their machines nothing more can be said than has been often said, that the Wheeler and Wilson's Machine has won for itself a success and popularity with scarcely a paralell on the teeming list of American Inventions.

SOAP AND STARCH.—Two more useful and valuable articles in the household list there are not, than soap and starch, and as representing these at his warerooms, Nos. 211 and 313 South Water street, C. S. Hutchins whose card, and advertisement may be found in another column, deserves the attention of the trade. In both staples he represents "first hands," being sole agent for the celebrated soaps of Jesse Oakley, and the Oswego starch of T. Kingsford & Son, and thus can secure to those purchasing of him the same advantages they would secure at the respective points of manufacture.

As to the quality of these articles, their reputation is already made, and established beyond all question, as having no superiors if any equals in the market. The Chemical Erasive Soap, we speak from personal knowledge has properties which render it extremely valuable as an alleviator of the trials of "Washing day," as, used according to the directions, it works to the delight of the housekeepers and their aids. The Family Soaps, Transparent Bar, and Toilet, and the Yankee Shaving Soap are excellent articles after their kind.

Mr. Hutchins' transactions are exclusive to the trade, and his stock now in store, one of the largest ever offered here. Certainly those in want of soap or starch from the best and most approved sources, have no need, whether their orders be ten or ten thousand boxes, to go East of Chicago.

THE WATER QUESTION.—We are glad to notice that our cotemporaries are joining us in presenting strongly to the public and to our City Fathers the matter of a free supply of water for the people—a constant, ever accessible flow of the water of our lake to the lips of the thirsty, by means of well located, well devised street hydrants, with drinking cups attached.

At present, to look about our city, and all American cities, it would seem as if water is for anything—everything but to drink, and that to meet the latter requisition mankind had honeycombed the city with lager and rot-gut cellars, opened and encouraged bars on every corner, and then rested content.

As we write at three P. M., in the warm, sultry rays of a sun ardent as of July, two or three thousand laborers are toiling in the open sunshine; our streets are active with the rush that characterizes life in our midst. Now let any one of these thousands in our streets yield to the thirst incident to this season, and pause in his labor or on his way, to allay the same, what must be his resort. Before and behind him stretches the street, with its great arteries filled with the waters of our lake. On the street corners are hydrants ready at the sound of the alarm-bell to pour a torrent, but they are silent and dry, and close, to thirsty thousands. And why may we not put in a plea for the humbler companions of man, the beasts of burden and our canine friends.

For each, for all, what better, nobler, and more unfailing source of thankful appreciation and adoption, would be a street fountain located at sundry prominent street corners. An iron column, with its iron drinking vessels chained to its sides, and at its base a drinking trough, where, throughout the months of summer at least, the thirsty need never apply in vain.

We believe the present city administration could not do a wiser thing, nor one more to their credit, than to inaugurate this matter of street fountains. Let no one be unwillingly driven to a bar.room because he can find nothing to drink elsewhere. The subject is being agitated in other cities; let it be put on foot in Chicago, and that speedily, to secure its advantages and luxuries for the summer now close at hand. Who leads the way in this matter.

☞ In another column, under a new name and style, appears the announcement of an old and well established Chicago house. Messrs. WHITE, STEWART & WHITE, at No. 95 South Water street, succeed the firm of Briggs & White, whose reputation and business connections have for years been known and in force throughout the circuit of country tributary to this wholesale mart. In the Wood and Willow Ware trade they were a leading and pioneer house in Chicago, and from small beginnings built up the enviable position with which the new firm commence operations. J. E. White, Esq., the present senior partner, has nine years experience in the business, and Mr. Stewart has been six years connected with it, giving to them an amount of experience and a prestige they bring from the late firm, which are a sure guarantee of their success.

In everything pertaining to the branch of business they represent, Wooden Ware, Willow Ware, of which latter they are themselves manufacturers, House Furnishing Goods, Friction Matches, &c., &c., they hold out inducements to the trade which should commend their establishment and give force to their announcement elsewhere in our paper.

STILL ANOTHER VICTIM.—The moths that scorch their wings in the evening flame and fall helpless and maimed victims to that which has tempted, to destroy, find their painful paralell in the too frequent instances of young employees lured from the path of honesty by the love of display, the living beyond their means, which leaves a deficiency to be made up from the safe or the till of the employer. The latest case is that of a young man named Appleton, arrested yesterday for robbery of his employers, Messrs. J. M. Stine & Co., dry goods dealers on Lake street. In his possession were found articles to the value of $8, taken from the store. The case is to undergo examination.

LOCAL MATTERS.

[From the Boston Saturday Evening Gazette, May 14, 1857.]

THE WONDERFUL ATMOSPHERIC LIGHT.—This is a grand discovery by which a well known theory in science is applied to purposes of the highest utility, viz: that hydro-carbons of a certain purity have so great an affinity for oxygen, that one part of the former will hold in custody twenty parts of the latter, while it requires four parts of nitrogen to retain in its gasp one part of oxygen. The apparatus by which the oxygen from the atmosphere is separated from its nitrogen is a diminutive little thing, but nevertheless it affects one of the greatest acheivements of which this age can have to boast. Henceforth we care not what becomes of the great monoplies of gas companies, and the fugitive inventions of ephemeral lamps that wont burn. Only give us the pure elements of carbon and oxygen in consort as they exist in this brilliant light—a light of surpassing brightness and intensity—and we ask nothing else. Indeed beyond this we can not expect to go, as these are the purest and best elements that nature has provided for light and heat; and the admiring thousands who crowd to Hanover street, in the Shoe and Leather Exchange, attest their unqualified approbation of the latest, and in the nature of things, last and greatest invention in LIGHT.

WE PUBLISH THE FOLLOWING articles to correct the erroneous statements recently published in the Oshkosh Democrat, in respect to the asserted security against fire, as furnished by Lillie's Safes, and also as to the alledged insecurity of safes of other manufacturers, as exemplified in the recent fire at Oshkosh. C. L. HARMON & CO., Agents for S. C. Herring & Co.

OSHKOSH, May 16th, 1859. Messrs. C. L. HARMON & Co., Gentlemen:—You probably have learned before this of the great fire in our city, which has burnt up nearly all the business part of our town, and

Six of Lillie's Safes.

I enclose you an article taken from one of our papers here, issued on Saturday, the 14th, after the fire; also, a reply I have written to the same which I shall have inserted in the next issue. Having bought a safe of you three years ago, which went through the fire all right, I thought I would put in the rejoinder to the article and inform you, as Lillie's Agent is here and has been trying his best to get a reputation for his safes. There was nearly Seventy-Five Safes in this fire, and I have heard of none yet, BUT LILLIE'S, but what came out ALL RIGHT, with some trifling exceptions. Yours respectfully, L. H. COTTRILL.

[From the Oshkosh Democrat.]

SAFES—LILLIE TRIUMPHANT!—There were six of Lillie's Patent Fire Proof Safes, in the great fire, all of which came out all right, the books and papers not being injured in the least. The owners of these safes did not stop to take out their safes, but took care of their "Dry Goods and Groceries," and trusted to the safes to protect their money, and we are glad to say they done it every time. Owners of Duryee & Forsyth's Safes, and S. C. Herring's, did not stop to look after the contents of their stores, but looked after the contents of their safes. They moved them out on to the sidewalk and into the street, yet this caution on their part to save their valuables were not successful. One of Herring's Safes was moved six feet from the building, yet the contents, consisting of watches, &c., was so heated that the owner cannot realize more than from twenty-five to fifty per cent on the dollar.

Lillie's Patent Fire and Burglar Proof Safes and Bank Locks are for sale by E. J. WOOLLEY, 39 Lake st., Chicago.

OSHKOSH, May 16th, 1859. MESSRS. EDITORS OF THE DEMOCRAT: In your extra, issued on Saturday, is an article headed "Lillie's Safes Triumphant," which I take the liberty to pronounce a falsehood, and a slander on other Safes that were in the fire; and the getter-up of that article must have been as mean and contemptible as the "Triumphant Safes" he speaks of. Now, Messrs. Editors, all the proof that is necessary can be obtained and SUSTAINED by walking up and down Ferry street,

That all Other Safes but Lillie's

withstood the fire and water without the least injury to the safes, and none to their contents except from water thrown upon them while hot, creating steam and occasioning dampness inside. I had one of Herring's Safes in my store which was not removed, but fell into two feet of water when the building burnt down, which I took out the next morning and opened it before a great many people, who will all testify that my Books and Papers were uninjured with the exception of what arose from being damp, and the safe is as good now for another fire as it ever was. Of the six safes your article speaks of there is not one of them but is so cracked and broken that they can never be used again. This you cannot say of any other safe that was in the fire. I am no Agent, nor anyway interested in this matter, but I like to see fair play, so I hope you will publish the above and correct the former article. Yours respectfully, L. H. COTTRILL.

HERRING'S PATENT CHAMPION FIRE AND BURGLAR-PROOF SAFES, with HALL'S PATENT POWDER-PROOF LOCKS, the same that were awarded separate medals at the World's Fair, London, 1851, and the World's Fair, New York, 1853, and are the only American Safes that were awarded medals at the London World's Fair. These Safes form the most perfect security against fire and burglars of any Safe ever offered to the public. $1,000 Reward will be paid to any person that can show a Herring's Patent Champion Safe ever failed to preserve its contents in an accidental fire. A large stock of Herring's Safes always for sale at No. 135 South Water street, Chicago, by my18-11-d315 C. L. HARMON & Co., Agents.

ENGLISH ELECTIONS AND THE PEACE OF THE WORLD.

The telegraph brings the unexpected intelligence that the Ministerial or Austrian party—the Derbyites—count up large gains in the recent English elections for members of Parliament, and that they are confident that they will control the next House. We say unexpected intelligence, because we of this country have supposed that the verdict of the English people would be pronounced in condemnation of Austria, her diplomacy, her ambition and her infernally tyranical rule; and it was not doubted that the European question, not the Reform bill, would be the point upon which the contest would turn. Here, as well as in England, it is understood that the Ministry and the Court, are Austrian; that the alliance with France is a sham; and that, through the Prince Consort and the house of Saxe Coburg, the men who rule the British Empire are devoted to the Hapsburghs, through weal and woe. The Queen, when she last addressed Parliament, pledged herself "to maintain inviolate the faith of treaties," unquestionably meaning the settlements of 1815; and Lord Derby in addressing the Lords proclaims that "by the faith of treaties, Austria has acquired a hold over her Italian Provinces, of which neither we nor any other nation under any plea or under any pretext have a right to deprive her." These pledges commit England to Austria's support; and the real or simulated fear of the effect of a doubtful alliance between France and Russia, whereby Europe is to be revised on the map, is the excuse by which such astounding recreancy to the cause of progress and good government is excused.

It has been the opinion of a well-known and liberal English statesman now in this country, that England is pledged to peace, and that she will not be drawn out of the line of policy which it is manifest that her interest will impel her to follow. But if it be true that the Austrian party is in the ascendant, we do not see how it is possible for the Franco-Russian alliance, now a myth, to be otherwise than a fearful reality, or how, when that takes place, England will prevent the beginning of a struggle that will shake her to the very centre. It was the apprehension of this alliance which sent a shiver of fear through the London money markets, and put Consols down to a figure which they have never reached since the battle of Waterloo. With a Derby Ministry in power, with a Queen and Prince Consort in sympathy with Austria, with hatred of France and fear of Russia ranklin in every fibre of English flesh, the condition of the Mother Country would be perilous indeed. The next steamer may bring different advices, in which the rout of the Tory party will not be the least important or the least gratifying item of intelligence. It is not saying too much, to declare that upon the result of the English elections, hang the peace of the world.

PROSPECT OF REVOLUTION.

The virtual revolt of the army of Tuscany, the flight of the Grand Duke, (a creature of Austria) the endowment of the King of Sardinia, by that army, with the functions of Dictator, the establishment of provisional governments at Carrara, Massa and Florence, are pregnant signs of the times. They indicate that the people of Italy are waking up from the long lethargy in which they have been steeped by the tyranny of Austria, and are about to take the control of their affairs into their own hands. Undoubtedly the supposed certainty of revolution among the Italians, by which the now masters of the Lombardo-Venetian States would have full employment in the continued subjugation of those over whom they have ruled with a rod of iron, as soon as an attempt for the conquest of Piedmont should be made, has been an important element in the calculations of Napoleon and Victor Emanuel. The fire of revolution kindled in Central Italy, as we have indicated above, will not, we take it, be slow in spreading to Milan, Verona, Triestr, and the other towns which the Austrians hold; and we shall be surprised if within thirty days, the advancing columns which are now on Sardinian soil, are not making a retrograde march to put down and punish a rising and rebellious people in their rear.—We, of course, do not know what the resources of the Emperor in his Italian provinces are, nor how much Austrian domination may have coerced and intimidated those who have been subjected to it; but all accounts unite in saying that between that people and their arbitrary rulers is a dreadful and inextinguishable hate, which needs but opportunity to display itself in deeds of blood. A recent Italian letter says:

> The indictment which should fully set forth each crime of the Austrian Government in its dealings with the Italian people, would exceed the collective rolls of the Alexandrian library in length. The thousands obliged to abandon home, friends, house and lands, and save their lives by self-banishment; the thousands who have died by the rope or the bullet, without trial and without hearing, for offences of which elsewhere law takes no cognizance, the multitudes who starve yearly under the extortion of the Austrian tax-gatherers, demanding the bulk of their difficult earnings; the households, without number, whose young men have been torn away to serve in the far-off Carpathian region; all these are distressed witnesses to the enormity of the evil, which the Holy Alliance and after advances of the Austrians, have fastened upon a helpless people. The number who, after the events of 1848, became hopeless fugitives from Italy, is reckoned moderately at 50,000. At least 15,000 have perished miserably, upon the scaffold or kneeling before the muzzles of Austrian muskets, since the victory of Novara rendered the pretence of fear and insecurity an audacious falsehood. Delicate women have been dragged into the public squares, in sight of friends and strangers, bared to the waist, and lashed, until the subsequent application of ice could alone save the mangled flesh from mortification. Old men, of exemplary lives wholly unconscious of offence, and without a hearing, have been suddenly seized and shot.

What power, under such a state of facts, will be able to prevent the rebound of the Lombards and Venetians, as soon as work is found elsewhere for the soldiery which have been the ministers of Imperial vengeance? What incubus will keep that people down, which have once been subjected to the numberless atrocities of Austrian government? In the contest in which Austria is engaged, her resources must be taxed to the uttermost. Her garrisons and strongholds wherever they are in Italy, must be stripped of the major part of their men and munitions of war, to enable her to carry on the fight. Though the activity and atrocity of her police will be redoubled, though every indication of a rebellious spirit will be promptly punished, the hour will come in which some event—some occurrence trivial in itself and now unforeseen—will clothe Italy in a sheet of flame in which her oppressors will be consumed. Such is our faith in the patriotism and devotion of the Italian people; and we wait with patience for the realization of our predictions.

A DISUNIONIST IN OFFICE.

The appointment of Heartt, of the Charleston Mercury, to the Superintendency of the Public Printing—a lucrative and honorable post at Washington—has not provoked the comment which it deserves. The Mercury is, as all our readers know, an avowedly Disunion sheet. It makes no concealments of its readiness for treason; but on the contrary proclaims it as an evidence of its superior merit. It is as shameless in its avowals as Garrison's Liberator; and is working, though with different means, for the same purpose. Had a Republican President put Garrison in such a place, the heavens would have rung with cries of "Shame!" raised by the Opposition Press. But we have long since learned, and the country ought now to understand, that the sentiments which make a traitor and fanatic at the North, are the highest claims for Democratic favor, in the South. It is true that, under this Administration, the men most trusted and upon whom the party heaps the most of its choicest gifts, are ready at a moment's warning to overturn the government. In the meantime, any who desire that Union-loving and law-abiding men should be at the head of affairs, are stigmatized with all the opprobrious epithets that can be scraped together out of an overflowing vocabulary of abuse and [illegible], and flung at their "Black Republican" heads. We hope to see the day in which such men as Heartt will be compelled to dig potatoes, chop cord-wood, or starve.

THE DEMOCRACY AND THE MASSACHUSETTS AMENDMENT.

The Democratic presses which are crying out against the recent amendment of the Constitution of Massachusetts, are quite oblivious of the fact that the unfaltering Democratic State of South Carolina adopted a law three years ago in reference to naturalization, precisely similar—in fact that the Massachusetts bill is almost a literal copy of the South Carolina proscription. Nobody deemed the Democracy of the nation responsible for the action of a single State, except so far as that State was a type of the society and government aimed at in the Cincinnati platform—which it undoubtedly is. The Dred Scott decision is there the great text-book of law and morals, resulting in an oligarchy only one remove from a monarchy, and infinitely meaner and more detestable. But we do not hold the Democratic party of the nation responsible for the South Carolina law, though it is clearly as responsible as the Republican party of the nation is for the Massachusetts enactment.

But we apprehend the same plea will not hold with reference to the provision inserted in the Organic Act of Minnesota, by the Democratic members of the United States Senate, to prevent foreign born residents from voting on the formation and adoption of the State Constitution. The bill was passed by Congress in the session of 1856—7. As it came from the House of Represenatives, (then in the hands of the Republicans), it authorized all persons to vote on the fundamental law under which they were to live, who had been permitted to vote under the laws of the Territory—including foreign born residents who had been two years in the United States, and had declared on oath their intentions to become citizens. When the bill came to the Senate a Democrat from North Carolina, (Mr. Biggs,) moved to insert the following:

> "Provided, That only citizens of the United States shall be permitted to vote at the election provided for by this act."

The vote on the Biggs amendment was as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Adams, Bayard, Bell of Tenn., Benjamin, Biggs, Broadhead, Brown, Butler, Clay, Crittenden, Evans, Fish, Fitzpatrick, Foote, Geyer, Green, Houston, Hunter, Iverson, Johnson, Jones of Tenn., Mason, Reid, Rusk, Slidell, Thompson of Ky., and Thompson of New Jersey.

Nays—Messrs. Allen, Bigler, Bright, Cass, Collamer, Dodge, Douglas, Durkee, Fessenden, Fitch, Foster, Hale, Jones of Iowa, Nourse, Pugh, Seward, Stuart, Toombs, Trumbull, Wade, Weller, Wilson and Wright. [illegible]

For the Amendment—Democrats 22; Americans 4; Republicans 1. Total 27.

Against the Amendment—Democrats 12: Republicans 12. Total 24.

Here was the Democratic party of the nation, by it authorized representatives, recorded as voting by a large majority against the right of foreign born citizens to have a voice in the formation of their fundamental law—a right previously conferred upon them by people of the Territory. The single Republican who voted with the majority (Mr. Foote of Vermont) subsequently changed his vote and assisted in having the obnoxious amendment expunged, as it was on the motion of Mr. Hale of New Hampshire.

The truth is the Democracy love foreigners just as a drayman loves a horse, and their toleration of foreign voters is measured precisely by their ability to get work out of them. Where they are strong enough to get along without them, as in South Carolina, they cripple their political power by amending the naturalization laws. Where they apprehend an apostacy from the pro-slavery faith, as in Minnesota, they elbow them out of the public councils. Of course the category of meannesses would not be complete without charging Know-Nothingism and proscription upon the Republicans.

Southern Politics and Politicians.

An "occasional" correspondent of the Philadelphia Press thus discourses on politics:

> The canvass in Virginia has become rancorous in the extreme. Attempts are made to show that Mr. Letcher, with Houston of Alabama, and Phelps of Missouri, purchased a tract of land near the National Capitol, and then supported, out of his usual rigorous economy, large and frequent appropriations for the extension of the Capitol buildings, that that private purchase might be enhanced in value. The other side show that the property was purchased before the extension was agreed upon. Where this personal fight will end nobody can tell. The delicate sensibility of Virginians to such an insinuation has heretofore resorted for redress to the field of honor. I don't know, however, whether Mr. Letcher is a stickler for the code duello. In Alabama the contest waxes furious. The terrible threats that a dissolution of the Union, that fire and blood, that pursuing fiends, that "Gorgons and Hydras dire," and that numberless other frightful circumstances are to befal everybody and surround everything, unless the fire-eaters are to have sway, and their dogmas to be sanctified, would horrify and intimidate, were it not that they become ludicrous, when it is recollected they are but a rehash of the screams and denunciations of 1850, from the same quarter, when the conservative citizens rose up, threw off the trammels of party organization, and gave almost a death-blow to the secession movement. This is the flicker before the light of its life is entirely extinguished. The flashing up just at this moment has had the good effect, however, of exposing the treachery of pretended friends to the Union, like Howell Cobb and others."

The last specimen of these personal controversies is a card issued by Mr. O. Jennings Wise, through the columns of his paper, the Richmond Enquirer, leveled at the Hon. John M. Botts, and treating that distinguished gentleman in the most disrespectful manner. Mr. Wise rejects with great disdain the "insinuation" of Mr. Botts, that he is striving to make atonement for his ardent opposition to Mr. Letcher, and turns his batteries upon Mr. Botts after this violent and extremely personal manner:

> As to my "juvenile" age and imputed want of discretion, I am past twenty-eight years of age. Since attaining manhood, I have successively received from the Chief Executive of my country two commissions of high trust and confidence. During four years, I have served that country to the entire satisfaction of my official superiors, and it involves no egotism to say that the service was rendered far more faithfully, more usefully, more efficiently than Mr. John Minor Botts has ever served even those whom nature has confided to his guardianship. "Worse than an infidel," he has failed to make provision even for those of his own household.
> If I am wanting in discretion, certainly Mr. Botts is not the man to instruct me in that virtue. . . . If discretion be the test, I confidently assert that at twelve years of age I was superior to Mr. Botts past maturity.

After a column and-a-half of denunciations, Mr. Wise fires this parting shot:

> At the very time that I opposed Mr. Letcher's nomination, I did not fail to avow publicly that I would vote for him, if nominated. I have deceived no one; my support of Mr. Letcher has been dictated solely by conscious motives of duty and patriotism; and among the numerous friends upon whom I rely for advice, not one has ever suggested a remonstrance or a doubt as to the entire propriety of my decision. Certainly I shall not veer from it because of the sneers of a man whom I do not recognize as an equal in any respect, mental, moral or social, and whom I do not consider entitled or capable to express a decision on any point of morality, private or political.

What Constitutes Democracy in Alabama.

The Democrats, of the IIId Congressional District of Alabama, lately represented by Mr. Dowdell, held a Convention at Auburn, on the 9th inst., and nominated David Clapton as Mr. Dowdell's successor. Among the brimstony resolutions adopted by the Convention, were the following:

> Resolved, That the citizens of the Southern States are entitled to the amplest protection of their property, of all kinds, in the Territories of the United States and upon the high seas, and that the failure of the Federal Government to give such protection, will justify the Southern States in throwing off such government.
>
> Resolved, That we have read with amazement and indignation the declarations made by leading Northern Democratic Senators, in the Senate of the United States, that not a man will be found at the North to support the claim of the South to protection of the Government, and against an act of the Territorial Legislature, either abolishing Slavery or destroying it by hostile legislation—
>
> And in reply, we here proclaim our unalterable determination to demand this protection from the Government, and that when our plain constitutional rights are violated, and find no protection in this Government, we will use our best endeavors to withdraw from that Government the powers which it perverts to our injury; and following the example and adopting the principles of our ancestry of 1776, we will "institute a new Government, laying its foundations on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form as to us shall seem most likely to effect our safety and happiness."
>
> Resolved, That we are opposed to all schemes for the building of a Railroad to the Pacific by the General Government.
>
> Resolved, That we are opposed to a tariff discriminating for protection, and opposed to specific duties.

Unity of the Democracy.

The following resolution was adopted by a Democratic meeting in Galveston, Texas, on the 2d inst.:

> Resolved, That our delegates to the Convention to assemble in Houston be instructed to vote against the adoption of any and all platforms which in any way would lead to the reopening of the African slave trade.

And the following by a Democratic meeting recently held in Parker County, Texas.

> Resolved, That we demur to any law of Congress making the foreign slave trade piracy, as a usurpation of power not warranted by the Constitution of the United States, and ought to be repealed.

☞ In suspending several overland mail routes, the Post Office Department, it is said, does not interfere with the great Overland Mail to California.

The Massachusetts Amendment.

Resolutions of the Young Men's Republican Association at Springfield.

[Correspondence of the Press and Tribune.]

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 15, 1859.

I forward the accompanying copy of the resolutions adopted at a special meeting, held on the night of the 14th inst., at the rooms of the Young Men's Republican Association, in accordance with the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary be instructed to send a copy of the resolutions adopted at this meeting, to all the leading Republican papers throughout this State, with a request that they be published.

Yours, very respectfully,
JOHN C. BARKER,
Sec'y Y. M. R. A.

(COPY.)

At a Special Meeting held at the rooms of the Young Men's Republican Association, on Saturday evening, May 14th, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted.

> Whereas, The Commonwealth of Massachusetts, has by a recent vote, sanctioned a law depriving the foreign born American citizen of the elective franchise for two year, after naturalization; and Whereas, Silence thereto by political bodies elsewhere, may be construed as an approval of such provisions; and Whereas, It has been the practice of the (so-called) Democracy, north and south, to lay to the charge of the Republican party all their own petty meannesses; and Whereas, the great Republican Party in their Platforms, and elsewhere, have repudiated every principle that would in any degree recognize any distinction between their fellow citizens of foreign birth and others; and Whereas, We hold that every true Republican must rejoice at the manner in which the foreign vote has lately rebuked the demagoging Democracy, and shown, unequivocally, their warm love of Liberty and Equal Laws; and Whereas, They are one with us in sustaining the great fundamental doctrine, enunciated by Jefferson—fought for by Washington, and defended and maintained by all the great and good of every country, clime and age—"That all men are created equal," therefore
> 1st. Resolved, That we, Republicans of Illinois, regard with feelings of scorn, detestation and contempt, any act calculated in any degree to overthrow the doctrines of the Declaration of Independence, be it from whom or where it may.
>
> 2d. Resolved, By the Republicans of the city of Springfield, Illinois, that, disclaiming all right or inclination to interfere with the action of a sister State, we protest decidedly and solemnly against any provision by which a duly naturalized foreigner must be in the United States a period beyond five years, before he can lawfully vote; and assert that no discrimination should be made, by amendment of a State Constitution, or otherwise, between citizens of foreign and citizens of native birth.
>
> Whereas, Our naturalized fellow citizens in the magnanimous enthusiasm with which they united in our own State, at the recent elections, with their American brethren, have proven themselves on the sacred side of Freedom and Reform, therefore
> Resolved, That we feel ourselves bound by every obligation of duty and of honor, to oppose earnestly and persistently, every attempt to impair or abridge any privilege now enjoyed by them or by their fellow immigrants.
>
> 4th. And Whereas, In the firm and manly position taken by the Hon. Henry Wilson of Massachusetts, on the question of the naturalization laws, he has evinced the true principles and spirit of the doctrines of the Republican party, as also have Messrs. Schurz of Wisconsin, Chase of Ohio, and Grimes of Iowa, therefore
> Resolved, That we most heartily concur in, and endorse the course pursued by these honorable gentlemen, and herewith tender our most sincere thanks for the able manner in which they have vindicated the integrity of the Republican party.

JNO. C. BARKER, Secretary.
JAMES OWSLEY, President, pro tem.

A Hard Case.

A correspondent writing from the State capital, gives us a dismal account of the state of things arising from the failure of the late Democratic Legislature to appropriate funds for the compensation of its clerks, postmasters, door-keepers, pages, chaplains, stokers, et al. The writer does not send us his name, but he seems to belong to the party which had control of the Legislature, and he evidently tells the truth. It is not our province to prescribe the style of treatment due from the Democracy to their subordinates and employees, but all must agree that the young men who contributed their services to the Legislature have good ground for complaint. We allow our correspondent to tell his story in part:

> "At the commencement of the late session, the Speaker of the House was authorized by that body to employ six boys, as messengers; also, an unusual number of assistants to the Clerk of the House, enrolling and engrossing clerks, postmasters, etc., were elected. In fact the number trebled and quadrupled that of the preceding session. During the last scene, and on the last day of that supremely ridiculous farce enacted at the close of that purely Democratic legislative caucus, and several days after the adjournment of the Legislature, when a Democratic speaker endeavored to force his partizans to live on patriotism alone, a bill was brought in and passed providing for the compensation of those officers and pages, and also the several clergy of the city, for services as chaplains, fixing the regular allowance of the former, and appropriating for the pages $1.50 each, per diem, and to each officiating clergyman $25. From that day to this, it is notorious in town that not a cent has been received by a single one although some have suffered for the actual necessaries of life. In this matter we do not attach blame to the State Auditor. He did what every other man would have done in the like position, preferring rather to let the matter take an airing in the Supreme Court, than run any pecuniary risk. In justice to Mr. Morrison the Speaker of the House, I would here remark that he did all in his power, personally, to assist them, and they received warrants on the Auditor for the amount. But nothing can excuse the Democratic majority in the House for neglecting to provide for their officials, when there was a quorum present, and not wait until the last day of the session, and then enacting a sham appropriation, that they knew was worthless. As for the compensation appropriated to the chaplains, no reference has been made to it, and not even an explanation has been deigned, although they were employed by a special joint resolution of the Senate and House."

War of the Factions.

The Administration and Anti-Lecompton Democratic factions of Pennsylvania are particularly amiable toward each other of late. For instance the State Sentinel, a Democratic Anti-Lecompton paper published at Harrisburg, uses the following mild language toward the President:

> "He is a violator of pledges, an unwise, unsafe and corrupt Executive, a Pro-Slavery Disunionist, a pirate in intention, a tyrant, an apostate from Democracy, a wool-dyed Federalist, and a disorganizer!"

To which the Philadelphia Pennsylvanian retorts by calling Messrs. Forney and Hickman—

> "Red-mouthed Abolitionists, corrupt and rotten at the heart, capable of perpetrating the foulest and blackest crimes, who have lived all their lives on plunder, stealing from the Treasury of the Government, and when the door was shut against their wholesale stealing, they turn round and abuse the men and party who gave them life."

Congregational Association of Ind.

The Association met at Indianapolis, on Thursday. The opening sermon was preached by M. A Jewett, of Terre Haute.

A protracted discussion was had upon the subject of Home Evangelization, and many interesting statistics were presented. Although there were found many destitute churches in their bounds, it was decided not to employ a denominational agent, but to depend upon aid from the Home Missionary Society.

The following preamble and resolution were unanimously adopted:

> WHEREAS, The American Tract Society, at its annual meeting in 1857, adopted, without dissent, a series of resolutions with reference to the right and duty of the Society to set forth in its publications the wrongs of slavery, and the duties of masters to their servants, thereby establishing the policy of the Society on a basis which is consistent with its constitution, and eminently "calculated to receive the approbation of all Evangelical Christians;" and whereas, the Publishing Committee has hitherto persistently refused to comply with the above instructions of the Society, therefore,
>
> Resolved, That we recommend to the Churches connected with this Association to make their contributions to the Tract cause, through the American Tract Society, Boston, or the American Reform and Tract Book Society, of Cincinnati, until the Society aforesaid retrace its steps and plant itself immovably upon the basis of the resolutions of 1857.

A Lawyer's Joke.

The humorous "drive" at the Dred Scott decision, the Supreme Court of the United States, its Admiralty decisions, and its method of over-ruling its own decisions, printed in the PRESS AND TRIBUNE of yesterday, under the grave head "Law Intelligence," was the occasion of many a hearty guffaw among the members of the profession under whose eye it fell.

☞ A letter from Portsmouth, N. H., under date of May 6th, says: "The United States ship Portsmouth is being fitted out with the utmost dispatch. It is rumored her destination has been changed, that she will immediately proceed to reinforce the Mediterranean squadron."

—The Rev. Mr. Stowe and Mrs. H. B. Stowe will sail for Europe in August, on a visit to two of their daughters, who are at school in Paris.

The Crops and Politics.

[Correspondence of the Press and Tribune.]

ROSS, Lake County, Ind., May 14, 1859.

We have had glorious weather for the last ten days. Every farmer is at work a la Strawn. Work is the order of the day; labor is honored; broadcloth is at a discount; strong hands and willing hearts are what is now appreciated. The last year has taught us that corn is nearly as valuable as crinoline, and full cribs quite as desirable as full skirts. We are all in for a crop; as far as human agency can accomplish it, we mean to fill our barns and bins, and assist in filling your warehouses, too. Corn is now in some cases being planted, and others ploughing. At present prospects are cheering and quite a contrast to one year ago. The good time is coming; work and wait a little longer.

All honor to the PRESS AND TRIBUNE for its resistance to all schemes, come from what quarter they may, to induce the Republican party to lower its standard. Republicans must be Republicans, and nothing else. We believed we were right in 1856, and we believe so now. What was an opinion with many then is conviction now; and, as you say, a triumph must be a triumph for Republicans and Republicanism. Better defeat than victory purchased by any sacrifice of principle. No lowering the platform; not a plank must be surrendered, or thousands of the best, the truest men in the party would leave it and form another party, preferring to fight on, even in a minority, to any advantage of place or spoils that might be got by an abandonment of principles.

REPUBLICAN.

THE WAR IN EUROPE.

MEETING OF THE HOSTILE ARMIES.

The French-Russian Alliance Confirmed.

[From the London Times, May 2d.]

Europe has entered into a state of war. Whatever may have been the reluctance in some quarters to believe that this could happen, whatever the inclination to deny or discredit, the full grown truth marches onward; war is gone forth in his usual guise, and is making himself known by his ordinary deeds. In three columns the Austrians have passed from Austrian territory to that of Sardinia. One of their divisions has penetrated the country from the north landing on the Sardinian shores of the Lake Maggiore, occupying the towns of Intra, Palanza, and Arona, and driving back the Sardinians by the superiority of their numbers. A second, consisting of 20 battalions and 8 batteries, has taken the road by Gravellana, and the third has found its way by Abbiati Grasso. How far the invaders have advanced, or what may be their point of concentrating, cannot be clearly stated from materials before us.

Whether the tete de pont at Buffalora was disputed and taken by bayonet after a sharp and considerable loss, as was reported at Vienna, or whether there was no resistance, as would rather appear probable from the silence of the telegram from Turin as to any actual encounter—whether Gen. Marmora resisted or quietly succumbed, whether Novara was occupied without opposition, and Vercelli was reached without a contest, are matters of detail that have no important bearing upon the main purport of to-day's news. The invading army of Austria is in full march upon Sardinian soil. On the other hand the King of Sardinia has put himself at the head of his army and gone to meet his invaders. He has surveyed the line of the Dora, where it is supposed the Sardinians may perhaps make a stand in defense of their capital, and he has gone thence to Alessandria, which must soon be attacked, if Austrians have a real intention to conquer Piedmont.

The French are swarming into the seat of war. The Austrian papers already declare the neutrality of Savoy has been violated. The Imperial Guard, numbering 15,000, have arrived at Genoa, and 40,000 French troops have now gathered in that place of strength. When or where these armed men will meet in conflict, is entirely a question of strategy. But so far as any question of peace or war is concerned, the English, Belgians, and French were not more at war on the plains of Ticino, Suza and Dora. We wish that our only disquieting intelligence was from the country where war has already commenced, and where the nations are contending. There might then be some hope that an advance upon Turin, and a battle favorable to the Austrians, might have the effect of reducing the pretensions of the French and Sardinians, or that a decisive advantage over the Austrian forces would induce that Power to come to terms upon the disputed points in her policy in Italy. This, however, is not so. That Provisional Governments have been established in Florence, Carrara and Massa, is not of itself a matter of vast importance. That the inhabitants of Rome are in an effervescent, if not insurgent state, is scarcely an addition to the ordinary Italian difficulties, but when we read that Prussia has resolved upon putting her remaining corps d'armee in readiness to march, we see very great cause to fear the peace of Europe is shaken more gravely than would appear from the soft message from Paris, and the bland assurances from St. Petersburg. That Prussia has cause for this precaution we cannot doubt, when we find that a Russian army of observation is about to be stationed upon her frontier, for some object of which Europe only knows that it has been concerted with France and was concerted in secret. But the most important and least reassuring of all the intelligence of the last forty-eight hours, is derived from no telegram, but is itself a confirmation from official sources, of that grave intelligence which we were some days since enabled to give, of the existence of a treaty between France and Russia. Mr. Fitzgerald has taken the occasion of his nomination at Horsham, to state publicly that in connection with the question of the supposed alliance between France and Russia, the Government had addressed to the Emperor of Russia a direct and catagorical inquiry, as to whether such a treaty, containing anything hostile to England, did exist. Prince Gortschakoff's answer was decisive. He said:

"I do not deny that there may exist a written agreement between France and Russia." We apprehend this quite sufficient to confirm our disquietude on this head. Of course we have, immediately after this important confession, less important assurance, that this written agreement "does not constitute a hostile alliance against Europe." We could scarcely expect the Russian Minister to admit that a treaty which he keeps shut from the eyes of Europe, contains an agreement for the partition of Europe. It is enough for us to know that not a treaty, but a written agreement exists between France and Russia, which those powers think it for their interest to keep secret from any third power.

Prince Gortschakoff gives his personal assurance that this written agreement does not constitute a hostile alliance against Europe, and upon this we are to lap ourselves into security, putting our trust firmly in the frankness of Prince Gortschakoff's reading of the written agreement and the innocency of this little secret between the two great aggressive Emperors. We can place no faith in the Russian view of the character of this treaty, for it is a mere prevarication to call a written agreement, concluded by two Emperors, by any other name. If we are to believe in the innocuousness of a treaty, under which armies are put in motion, we should first like to know something of the articles agreed to. Denials of late, have lost much of their former value. We recollect how firmly the mission of Prince Menschikoff was denied, and we have had much more recent opportunity of seeing how, day after day, every event that was about to happen was, in the columns of the Moniteur, most circumstantially denied. An official denial has now come to be the almost certain forerunner of an indefensible enterprise.

[Correspondence of the N. Y. Times.]

LYONS, April 28, 1859.

All the various grades of French officers, from a Marshal of France to the lowest subaltern, and of every conceivable corps, may now be seen in the streets of Lyons, preparing to follow the army already marched over the Mount Cenis Pass. Already fifty thousand men are on their way, but it is not supposed that they can be ready to meet the Austrian forces sooner than Monday, although it is believed here that war has actually commenced.

The road over Mount Cenis is macadamized throughout its whole extent, and is wide and in perfect order, consisting of easy grades. On the top of the mountain there was much snow, but most of it was removed from the road—a work of great labor, as the cuts in some places were ten feet deep, and the snow so compact that its sides were perpendicular. The diligence was several hours in passing through this region of snow, and it was snowing at the time, and extremely cold. On Monday and Tuesday of this week it rained hard on the west side of the mountain, and it was feared that the passage of troops was impeded by fresh snows. The journey over the Pass is no pleasant affair, even to one who occupied the protected seats of a comfortable diligence—such was my fortunate position—what must it be to soldiers on foot, wet with severe rains, and encumbered with knapsack and arms.

The pass is 6,825 feet high—nearly 300 feet higher than the famous Simplon pass. That of the great St. Bernard, over which Napoleon conducted his army before any road had been formed, is 8,200 feet. The easy grades of the Mont Cenis road, and the protection furnished by granite posts on its exterior, within seven or eight feet of each other—firmly planted in the earth, and about four feet high—indicate that a principal object in thus forming it, was the easy and safe hauling of cannon and baggage over the line. I walked for miles over the road, in the ascent from the Sardinian side, and carefully observed its construction. The engineering difficulties were immense, but they have been overcome with such skill, that the ascent is uniform and easy in every part. Occasionally a level place is left to afford relief to horses from the wearisomeness of a steady pull. I noticed that the marks of the drill used in blasting were nearly obliterated, the effect of long-continued exposure to severe storms, and the character of the rock, which is a soft limestone. It may be, if the history of the road shall ever be lost, that future antiquarians may contend from the obliteration of all signs of blasting, that at least no great difficulties were encountered in its construction, even if they do not insist that it was formed on a natural bed. One is struck with wonder that such a great work, over high mountains, should have been formed and finished on a line exceeding fifty miles, so completely that it exceeds in excellence any road I know of in the United States, whether public or private, and long or short. It is kept in high order, and is descended on a brisk trot with entire safety.

It semed most appropriate, as this great road was the work of the elder Napoleon, that the representative of his name should distinguish himself by using it for the march of a great army aimed at the same power which Napoleon successfully encountered soon after crossing the Swiss Alps.

The Sardinian effective force, actually on foot, and independent of the volunteers flowing in from all parts of Italy, amounts, as I learned by the most particular inquiries, to about 70,000 men. Had the Austrian Emperor been allowed to act on his own judgment, and attack Sardinia a month ago, he might have gained his first campaign. The cautious diplomats have delayed the war just long enough to give his adversaries time to secure the outbreak of all Italy, and the near co-operation of France. When I left Turin, on the 25th, there were forty thousand French troops at Genoa, and the artillery now on its way over the Mont Cenis will find fifty thousand more at Susa, in possession of the Turin Railroad.

Garibaldi, with a free corps of 11,000 Italian volunteers, most of them soldiers of the war of 1848-'49, is posted within two hours of Turin, on the line of defence of the Po.

The steamers and trains, from Civita Vecchia all the way to this place, I have found filled with recruits. As we steamed into Leghorn we passed a steamer, bound out for Genoa, with 600 Tuscan soldiers on board, departing in the midst of the wildest popular tumult of cheers and cries. Our own steamer, the Pausilippo, took on when we left as many as we could possibly stow away, soldierly-looking fellows, and evidently "full of fight." The train from Genoa to Turin was crowded with these volunteers, and at every station the people assembled in crowds, with cries of "Viva l'Italia," "Viva Francia," and shouts for VICTOR EMANUEL AND NAPOLEON.

[Correspondence of the Paris Constitutionnel.]

CHAMBERY, (Piedmont), April 28, 1859.

It was known that the first detachment would pass through the city towards noon. At 9 o'clock the population hastened to occupy every practicable point of observation around the depot. The left side of the railroad forms, at this place, a species of amphitheatre, bounded by numerous houses. They were crowded with spectators. The surrounding country supplied its contingent. Neither a report that the order of march having been countermanded, nor the most penetrating of rains, could repress the ardor or the curiosity of the multitude. At last, at 1 o'clock, the sound of the steam-whistle was heard; the locomotive which has come from Culoz with the velocity of flight pauses; there are thirty cars in the train. They contain the Chasseurs de Vincennes of the Nineteenth Battalion, and several companies of the Forty-third of the Line. The whole body of spectators uncovers. The soldiers show themselves at the gates. The air resounds with prodigious acclamations: "Vive la France!" "Vive l'Empereur!" "Vive le Roi!" "Vivent les Chasseurs de Vincennes!" "Vive the Forty-third of the Line!" At this moment the air Partant pour la Syrie mixes with the noisy welcome.

At the end of ten minutes the train resumes its way to Saint-Jean-de-Maurienne, where a reception no less ardent awaits it. At 2:30 P. M. it enters that city. The Syndic, his adjunct, and the several authorities, with the Bishop, Monsigneur Vibert, accompanied by two priests, hasten to greet the brave soldiers, who appear charmed with this welcome of a people who, more than once since 1815, has yearned towards France.

Every three hours new transport trains pass through Chambrey. The railroad management has suspended some days four or five of the regular arrivals and departures.

An Outrage by a Canadian Official.

[From the Buffalo Express, 16th.]

An affair transpired on Friday night, in this city, which for its impudence we have seldom heard equalled. To give our readers a correct history of the transaction we must commence at the beginning. Some time since, the Sheriff of Niagara, Canada, attached the schooner Empress and kept her in custody, but she was taken out of his possession by some underhanded work and proceeded on her voyage. Arriving once more at Port Colborne, the Sheriff prepared to seize her, when the mate, who had a claim against the vessel, set sail and came to Buffalo. Here an action was brought against her in admiralty, and she was also attached by the Sheriff of Erie county, who placed Deputy Emerick and a keeper on board of her. At a late hour on Saturday morning, those in charge heard footsteps on the deck, and Emery started up the hatchway—here he was met by a man who told him to go back or he would blow his brains out, striking him at the same time in the face. Emerick made several attempts to get on deck, but they were unsuccessful. Those on deck unmoored the vessel, and the tug Stillman Wait coming alongside, she sailed towards Canada. Here another tug was attached to her, and the Stillman Wait returned forthwith to Buffalo.

During all this time Emery was looking through a crack in the door, and impressed the visages of the thieves on his mind. Among them, we understand, was the Sheriff of Niagara, Canada, and the owner of the cargo. Emerick and the store-keeper were landed early in the morning and allowed to return home. Warrants were immediately procured against all the parties, and upon the arrival of the 1 o'clock train upon the Port Huron Road, officer Emerick proceeded to the depot, and recognized six of the men as they were about leaving the cars, who were arrested and committed to jail by Justice Bidwell.

The Sheriff has written to the Secretary of State in regard to the affair, and these overbearing British officials will see that they cannot come into our harbors and meanly steal away a vessel while in the custody of the Sheriff, with impunity, imprisoning at the same time and threatening the lives of American citizens.

Massacre of Thirteen Whites by the Mojave Indians.

[From the Alta Californian, April 20.]

A letter received in this city from a gentleman connected with Mr. Bishop's party, encamped on the Colorado, mentions the arrival of three young men in their camp belonging to a party of seventeen, who were traveling from Pike's Peak to California. On the 12th March they were attacked by Indians on this side of the Colorado, and north of the Mojave River, and out of the whole party only four were left to tell the fate of the others; one of those soon gave out, and the other three, after suffering incredible hardships, made their way to a settlement on the Mohave. Their names are W. Coleman, C. Bonyrge and O. P. Brown. It appears they were attacked at the edge of a wood, and most of the party shot down before resistance could be offered. The survivors immediately made for the open ground, where they defended their lives with the greatest bravery. One young man named Bonyrge displayed great coolness, and covered the retreat of his comrades by shooting down every Indian that showed himself from under cover. So terrified were the Indians by the havoc made among them by the revolvers of the whites, that they beat an immediate retreat, offering no further molestation to this brave little band.

Another Railroad Compact.

[From the N. Y. Eve. Post, 14th.]

We learn that the managers of the Four Trunk lines at the conference at the St. Nicholas Hotel yesterday, came to such an understanding as will put an end to the insane policy that has too long been pursued. Whether the arrangement now making will have a more satisfactory existence than the previous compact, remains to be demonstrated. The stockholders of the companies represented will receive the announcement with gratification, not so much from the immediate benefits that are to be expected, as from the removal of a disaffection which, during its operation, has been especially damaging to their own interests, and was augmenting the disrepute in which railway property before stood.

We are informed that the freight superintendents of the lines are to-day preparing a schedule which, if agreed upon, will go into operation on the 20th inst. There is also to be a change in the time of passenger trains, which will do away, to a great extent, with costly high speed.

[Special Despatch to the Cincinnati Commercial.]

NEW YORK, May 15.

An agreement has been entered into between the representatives of the four lines, which now only requires the formal action of N. Y. Central authority to make it effective.

Rates to and from Cincinnati are adopted, a system of rates to be based thereon by the Freight Agents. Westward to Cincinnati—first class, $1.10; second class, 85c; third class, 70c, and fourth class 50c; flour 90c.

Rail and water rates are as follows: First class, 10c; second and third classes, 8c; fourth class, five cents less than above; flour 10c less. A difference of 6 and 8c respectively on fourth class freights to and from Philadelphia and Baltimore, as compared with N. Y. rates.

BONUS TO THE N. Y. AND ERIE.

A large cash bonus is to be paid to the New York and Erie road, by a which nine dollar rate between Buffalo and New York is secured for one year.

TIME.

The time between New York and Cincinnati is to be 35 hours, Chicago 41 hours. All roads are to make the same connections at Columbus.

CATTLE TRANSPORTAHION.

Cattle from Buffalo to New York $85 per carload.

Little doubt is felt as to the consummation of this agreement by all parties.

Street Railroad Negotiations.

BALTIMORE, May 14.

The contractors of the City Railroad and the Omnibus proprietors are not able to agree on the price for the stock. There is a wide difference between them, and in all probability the arbitration suggested will have to be resorted to before a settlement of their matters.

We have from good authority that the contractors have proposed to pay the proprietors of each line of Omnibuses $10,000, and they to keep all their property and dispose of it as they may deem most advantageuss to themselves. The proposition has been rejected by the Omnibus owners.

Flood at St. Louis.

[From the Missouri Democrat, 16th.]

A rise in the river at this point, almost unprecedented in rapidity, occurred on Saturday, commencing at an early hour. It rose so fast, that the men who were deputed by some merchants to remove a quantity of grain from the wharf were unable to do so before the water had mounted upon the pile, submerging one tier and part of another. In the course of a few hours in the morning, freight on the wharf was so disposed of as to leave a space of ten or fifteen feet as a bed for the encroaching water.

We had the curiosity to measure accurately, on Saturday, the amount of rise in thirty-five minutes, and found it to be two inches. It could not have continued swelling at that rapid rate all day, however, for the total rise in the twenty-four hours ending at 10 A. M. yesterday, was about two feet and six inches. From ten o'clock to four o'clock, six hours, the rise was only one inch, and the river is expected to be found declining, or at a stand, this morning.

On Saturday, merchants on the levee were under the necessity of raising goods from their cellars and piling them in upper stories and on the sidewalks, and others were doing the same yesterday. A force of men was engaged yesterday in raising the railroad track that runs along the river, as the water threatened to run over it. Some of the minor dykes and made roads on Bloody Island, were caving in, and inundations of low-lying parts of the island threatened.

In addition to this, we have information that the Illinois is swelling, not only from the lower end, but from LaSalle and the head waters.

We are no alarmists, but when whole seas of rains have fallen on the whole provinces North, East and West of us; and when the Missouri, the Upper Mississippi and the Illinois, and their thousand tributaries, are pouring out their greatly swollen streams, we do nothing more than our duty in warning those interested to "look out for a flood."

Gold Hunters Returning.—Great Destitution.

[Correspondence of the St. Joseph Journal.]

FORT KEARNEY, K. T., May 8, 1859.

A. K. MILLER, Esq:—Knowing that you take an interest in all things appertaining to the gold mines, I will let you know how the Pike's Peakers get along out here. They are all returning, and not less than 900 wagons passed here within the last week. They are selling their outfits for almost a song out here. They sell their flour from three to five dollars, bacon at ten cents; horses and cattle are selling for almost nothing, and wagons and hand-carts they give away. There are some returning who have not a cent to take them back, while those who have anything are hurrying back as fast as they can to keep from being robbed by the rest. Your friend, CHAS. D. CURTIS.

Fillibuster Movements.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Herald, under date of the 14th inst., telegraphs as follows:

> Advices received here mention that in a short time there will be concentrated on the borders of Arizona and near the Northern Provinces of Mexico, at least 2,000 armed men, under experienced leaders. It is understood that they will be invited by the Juarez government to aid him should it become necessary to establish his government permanently. It is expected that Gen. Walker will meet them from the Pacific side with a large party, in some of the Northern Provinces of Mexico, probably Sonora and Chihuahua. An army officer arrived here, states he met upwards of 10,000 persons east of the Arkansas, on their way to Pike's Peak and Arizona.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

Ex-Senator Foote denies, by public card, that he intends to run for Congress in the Vicksburg (Miss.) District.

—It is rumored that the French Senate will present an address to the Emperor, beseeching him not to leave Paris.

—The late E. T. Dana, of Cambridge, bequeathed $15,000 for a public library in that city, and $5,000 to the Boston Atheneum.

—Two hundred thousand copies of Spurgeon's Sermons have been sold by Sheldon & Company, of New York, the American publishers. The ninth edition of the fifth series has just been issued.

—The furniture at Rydal Mount, near Ambleside, the residence of Wordsworth, was announced for sale by auction on the 5th and 6th of May. Mrs. Wordsworth is dead, and the home that was the poet's is broken up.

—Prof. Henry Weber, of Nashville, Tenn., has composed a "Te Deum," which has been published for the benefit of the "Church of the Advent," in Nashville, and is commended by the journals of that city as a very grand composition of sacred music.

—The Rev. Wm. Butt, a Methodist minister—who preached Freedom in Kansas through all the troubles, and was persecuted by the Border Ruffians for his Free State sentiments—has been transferred to the Arkansas Conference, and appointed Presiding elder of the Texas district.

—The fortunate husband of the beautiful daughter of Mr. Corcoran, the Washington banker, receives with his wife a bridal present of $1,000,000. Mr. Eustis is said, under the circumstances, to be as well satisfied as any other man in Louisiana, no matter what the other man's luck may be.

—Mr. Russell, of the London Times, is at Marseilles, on his way home from India to England. A telegram from Printing-House Square reached him at Marseilles, with a request to turn his steps, not to London, but to Lombardy. His reply is understood to have been that, for the present, he preferred the banks of the Thames to the banks of the Ticino.

—Mr. Thomas Ball, the sculptor, of Boston, is to make an equestrian statue of Washington, of bronze, after a model recently exhibited in Boston. It is to cost $15,000; the money to be raised by a fair in October. The same artist is to make a statue of Webster, in bronze, for the New England Society of New York city.

—The second son of the Grand Duke of Tuscany is said to be ardently enlisted in the cause of Piedmont. He declared that if there were no other way of getting into the fight, he would volunteer in the Sardinian service. As his father has fled from the country, the young man will probably, in the event of the overthrow of Austria, succeed to the throne of the Duchy.

—"Occasional" writes from Washington to the Philadelphia Press:

> Western Virginia papers state that never before was such indifference exhibited as in the present Gubernatorial canvass. This looks bad for Mr. Letcher, for he will go over the mountains from Eastern Virginia with immense odds against him. Unless, therefore, of which there seems now no probability, he carries the west with him in large majorities, he is doomed to defeat.

French and Austrian Influence in Italy.

The following, from the Florence correspondence of the Providence Journal, throws some light on a question which begins to be agitated:

> "If foreign domination is still to be maintained in Italy, we have no doubt the Italians would prefer subjection to French rather than Austrian masters, as there would be more hope, at least, of some advantage to come through future French revolutions. The people are so much like the French, also, in race and language. Not one Italian in a thousand learns German, while every one with any pretensions to education is acquainted with French. They call the French the sister language, which, it is; but every sound of the German is repulsive to their ears. Their fashions and customs come from France, and their tastes, their habits of thinking, and their aspirations, are inspired by the same country; while everything Austrian they hate. German influence in Italy for two or three hundred years has not succeeded in changing, in the slightest degree, the language or the feelings of the people. What stronger proof could there be that Austrian rule in Italy is unnatural, and must come to an end?"

Increase of Telegraphic Business.

Among the evidences given of the increasing business of the country, especially that of a mercantile character, it is stated that the number of messages daily sent over the various telegraph lines is vastly greater now than ever before. The three printing telegraph lines of the American Telegraph Company, located at No. 21 Wall street, and known as the Boston, the Washington and the National Wires, transmitted on Wednesday, respectively, 437, 336, and 442 private messages, beside about 6,000 words of public news reports, and that, too, through a steady and very disagreeable storm, which lasted the whole day.—New York Tribune, 13th.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR,
PREPARED BY DR. SANFORD,
Compounded Entirely from Gums,
Is one of the Best PURGATIVE and LIVER MEDICINES now before the public.

These GUMS remove all morbid or bad matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach, causing food to digest well, PURIFYING THE BLOOD, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the cause of the disease—effecting a radical cure.

BILLIOUS ATTACKS are cured, and, what is better, prevented by the occasional use of the Liver Invigorator.

One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the stomach and prevent the food from rising and souring.

One dose taken after each meal will cure DYSPEPSIA.

One dose often repeated is a sure cure for CHOLERA MORBUS, and a preventative of CHOLERA.

LIVER INVIGORATOR.

Only one bottle is needed to throw out of the system the effects of medicine after a long sickness.

One bottle taken for Jaundice removes all sallowness or unnatural color from the skin.

One dose taken a short time before eating, gives vigor to the appetite, and makes the food digest well.

One dose, often repeated, cures CHRONIC DIARRHŒA in its worst form, while Summer and Bowel Complaints yield almost to the first dose.

One dose of two teaspoonfuls will always relieve Sick Headache.

Only one dose immediately relieves Cholic.

A few bottles will cure Dropsy, by exciting the absorbents.

We take pleasure in recommending this medicine as a preventative for Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all Fevers of a Bilious type. It operates with certainty, and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.

All who are Using it are giving their Unanimous Testimony in its Favor.
☞ Mix water in the mouth with the Invigorator and swallow both together.

MORE TO BE ADMIRED THAN THE RICHEST DIADEM EVER Worn by Kings or Emperors.

What? Why a Beautiful Head of Hair.

Because it is the ornament God Himself provided for all our race. Reader, although the rose may bloom ever so brightly on the glowing cheek, the eye be ever so sparkling, the teeth be those of pearls, if the head is bereft of its covering, or the hair be snarled and shriveled, harsh and dry, or worse still, if sprinkled with gray, nature will lose more than half her charms. Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, if used two or three times a week, will restore and permanently secure to all such as ornament. Read the following and judge. The writer of the first is the celebrated Pianist, Thalberg:

New York, April 19th, 1858.

DR. WOOD—Dear Sir:—Permit me to express to you the obligations I am under for the entire restoration of my hair to its original color; about the time of my arrival in the United States it was rapidly becoming gray, but upon the application of your "Hair Restorative," it soon recovered its original hue. I consider your Restorative as a very wonderful invention, quite efficacious as well as agreeable.

I am, dear sir, yours truly, S. THALBERG.

[illegible]

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir:—Some month or six weeks ago I received a bottle of your Hair Restorative and gave it to my wife, who concluded to try it on her hair, little thinking at the time that it would restore the gray hair to its original color, but to her as well as my surprise, after a few weeks' trial, it has performed that wonderful effect by turning all the gray hairs to a dark brown, at the same time beautifying and thickening the hair. I strongly recommend the above Restorative to all persons in want of such a change of their hair. CHARLES CARDEW.

New York, July 25th, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD:—With confidence do I recommend your Hair Restorative, as being the most efficacious article I ever saw. Since using your Hair Restorative my hair and whiskers, which were almost white, have gradually grown dark; and I now feel confident that a few more applications will restore them to their natural color. It also has relieved me of all dandruff and unpleasant itching, so common among persons who perspire freely. J. G. KILBY.

PROF. WOOD:—About two years ago my hair commenced falling off and turning gray; I was fast becoming bald, and had tried many Remedies to no effect. I commenced using your Restorative in January last. A few applications fastened my hair firmly. It began to fill up, grow out, and turned back to its former color (black). At this time it is fully restored to its original color, health, and appearance, and I cheerfully recommend its use to all.

Chicago, Ill., May 1, 1857. J. D. HOES.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds half a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, forty per cent. more in proportion, and retails for three dollars.

O. J. WOOD & CO., Proprietors, 312 Broadway, New York, (in the great New York Wire Railing Establishment,) and 114 Market st., St. Louis, Mo. And sold by all good Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers.

Special Notices.

Fever and Ague is a terrible disease. Of "all the ills that flesh is heir to," it is the thickest in its first manifestations, the most unrelenting in its progress, and the most defiant of medical skill. Fever and Ague is more destructive of life than Consumption, because it is more easily induced, and therefore more prevalent. It marks its victims for the grave, like an executioner's bond. Day by day, the sufferer grows weaker and weaker, and each hour does he fear a strong consciousness of approaching the tomb. We have said that the disease is one of those which has nearly always defied medical science—a few cases only in a while having been cured and reported. We are happy to announce that Dr. J. Hostetter, of Pittsburgh, has prepared a compound that has never been known to fail in curing the worst cases of this terrible disease. We recommend DR. J. HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED BITTERS to suffering humanity generally, as a sure and speedy specific.

For sale by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere. my11-2wd

Dyspepsia! Dyspepsia!! DYSPEPSIA!!—What is it? How Cured?—Dyspepsia is our National Disease—weak stomach, feeble digestion, distress after eating, costive habit, bilious condition. How many suffer with it and its attendant symptoms of low spirits, bad taste, coated tongue, obstupified head, and attacks of headache! Yet how few know how to cure it! Generally, because the bowels are constipated, resort is had to cathartics or laxatives. But such a condition was never cured by cathartics, whose only office is to weaken the digestion and impair the integrity of the entire assimilative system. But HUMPHREYS' HOMEOPATHIC DYSPEPSIA PILLS—a simple medicated sugar pill—have cured hundreds of the worst and most obstinate cases. This is done simply by improving the tone and restoring the integrity of the digestive organs, from which result good appetite, regular habits, a clear head, and buoyant spirits. Such a medicine is a gem, and only requires to be known to be appreciated.

Price, 25 cents per box, with directions. Six boxes $1.

N. B.—A full set of Humphreys' Homeopathic Specifics, with book of Directions, and twenty different Remedies, in large vials, morocco case, $5; do, in plain case, $4. Family case of fifteen boxes and Book, $2.

These Remedies, by the single box or case, are sent by mail or express, free of charge, to any address, on receipt of the price. Address DR. F. HUMPHREYS & CO. No. 562 Broadway, New York.

Dr. Seelye's Liquid Catarrh REMEDY.—There is no disease so common in this country as Catarrh. It is a disease affecting the lining membrane of the Nose, extending to the Throat. Its symptoms are unnatural discharges from the nose sometimes falling into the Throat, and are thrown off by coughing or hawking. As the disease progresses the discharges become thicker, offensive and disagreeable, causing a bad breath. The sense of smell is frequently destroyed or lessened, and the voice becomes unnatural, with a frequent desire to clear the Throat.

Catarrh in a majority of cases is the commencement of Consumption. Beginning in the nose it extends to the throat and from there to the lungs. It is a disease that should never for a day be neglected; and the importance of attending to it at its commencement, cannot be too earnestly urged upon the public, for thousands of persons might be saved from Consumption yearly, by curing a Catarrh.

The remedy which I offer the public as a curative of this disease is a liquid preparation and is used by insufflation or by snuffing it up the nostrils. I have thoroughly tested it in my private practice, and can confidently and honestly say to those who have this disease that it will effect a cure of Catarrh in a majority of cases when used as directed. It at once lessens the discharges, destroys all offensive odor and renders the head clear and the voice natural.

All diseases of the LUNGS, THROAT and NOSE successfully treated by the Inhalation of Cold Medicated Vapors. Office, 196 Merchant's Exchange, on the corner of Lake and Wells street.

A Circular with full particulars of disease, &c., will be sent to any address upon the receipt of a penny postage stamp. my11-1wd&1tw-d268

Late Physician and Surgeon to the Opthalmic and Aural Institute of Louisville, Ky., whose reputation is so well known throughout the United States for skill and success as an operator on the EYE and EAR, has now been in this city twelve months, during which time he has treated with a success truly astonishing. FIFTEEN HUNDRED PATIENTS, many of whom had been totally blind for years, and others whose vision was dim and obscure from long continued inflammation of the lids, have been made to see; and others again, who had been entirely Deaf for many years, have been restored to hearing, and several others who have been deaf and dumb from infancy, have been made to hear and speak—an operation believed to have never before been successfully performed by any Surgeon on the American continent.

Aerial Navigation.

[From the Utica Herald, May 13.]

Carlincourt returned from New York yesterday where he has been attending a meeting of American aeronauts—Wise, Carlincourt, and several other members of the profession were present. The aeronauts compared notes as to improvements they had respectively made in apparatus, and gave to each other the benefits of their experience. Among other things discussed, was the project of John La Mountain to cross the ocean in a balloon. We understand that the gentlemen present were unanimous in the opinion that the project of crossing the ocean was entirely feasible, but they think Mr. La Mountain's apparatus impracticable.

Carlincourt is very sanguine in the belief that the Atlantic may be crossed in a balloon in two days; he says the necessary apparatus would cost $25,000, and he thinks it a great shame that our government—which appropriates millions of money to less useful purposes—cannot take a step towards enabling some practical aeronaut to carry news to England, and return ahead of the steamer. A plan for the balloon to which a life-boat is attached, has been shown us, and we confess that, however startling the proposition may appear, there are strong reasons for believing that it could be accomplished.

Carlincourt is now engaged in this city in building a new and elegant balloon, which will eclipse Excelsior. We saw a part of the cloth which is to go into this monster, yesterday, as it was stretched upon the frames. It is very fine Irish linen, varnished until it is quite translucent. This ballon will only weigh ninety-pounds when completed, and will carry up five men.

The San Francisco Alta gives the following item in regard to balloon traveling in California:

"It is stated that a celebrated French aeronaut is on his way to this country with a magnificent balloon, with which he intends to make regular trips between this city and Oakland.—He has been engaged by a number of speculative gentlemen, who hope to realize considerable by the operation. The price of passage is not stated.

The aerial machine in the course of construction at Lansingburg, N. Y., by Mr. La Mountain, with which he designs to cross the Atlantic, is fast approaching completion. In speaking of it, the Lansingburg Gazette has the following:

"The balloon will be 65 feet in diameter, and when inflated the car and balloon will be 100 feet high. There will be employed 2,350 yards of silk—wide China—the best ever used for the purpose. The silk was put in oil last Friday.—Six miles of cord will be used in the net. The car or boat is of unique construction, and very strong. It is 19 feet long, 4 feet wide, and 20 inches high. It was built in New York City, and is capable of carrying twelve men in the roughest sea. The boat will be in this village within two weeks. One hundred and fifty thousand cubic feet of gas will be required to inflate the balloon, giving it an ascending power of about three and a half tons.

How they get Voters in England.

Mr. Buchanan, who whines so lachrymosely over the corruption of the elections in this country, furnishing a fine topic for the moralist of the London Times, will have to send his sympathies across the water. The borough of Midhurst, in England, is the residence of the Earl of Egmont, and contains some four hundred electors in a population of about seven thousand persons. The nobleman had a butler named Sexton, and in the town of Midhurst resides a Mr. Nicholls, a cooper. Midhurst, like many more important places, is now in the agony of a contested election. Mr. Hardy enjoying the countenance of the Earl of Egmont, solicits renewal of the trust which the electors had confided to him two or three months ago. He is opposed by Mr. William Milford. It would appear that Mr. Nicholls, the cooper, has at one time enjoyed the patronage of the family at Cowdray Park, Lord Egmont's place, and that for some reason or other he has since lost it. Whether Mr. Nicholls' barrels were not well made, whether his charges were too high, or whether he voted against the Cowdray interest at the last election, does not appear. It seems, however, that an opportunity has just been afforded to Mr. Nicholls to recover the Cowdray favor. On the 16th inst., Mr. Sexton, the butler, "the family" being in town, found time, apparently in the intervals of his cork-drawing, to address a letter to Mr. Nicholls. It is given in the London papers as follows, verbatim et literatim:

"26 St. James Place, April 16th, '59.

"Dr Sir, I understand that you are hesitating which way to give your vote now will you oblige me to vote for Hardy I think I will undertake to promise you that you will have back your work at Cowdray it was my wish that you should have it I had already spoke at high quarters in your favor we want to get Hardy returned, therefore every vote is of consequence therefore you must stick to us & the old Cowdray estate Oblige me & go to Mr. Brown and promise him at once & let me hear from you that it is all right.

"I trust you are all well as this leve us I remain yours very truly J. SEXTON.

"Mr Nicholls Cooper Midhurst Sussex Stampt."

Death of Professor Olmsted.

[From the N. Y. Evening Post, May 13.]

Denison Olmsted, LL. D., Professor of Astronomy in Yale College, died this morning in the sixty-eighth year of his age.

His surviving college mates, and forty classes of his pupils, with the unnumbered teachers and readers of his scientific works, will peruse this notice with the profoundest sorrow, and sympathize with his bereaved family.

Professor Olmsted was graduated at Yale College in the last class taught by President Dwight; and from that time to the close of his life (with the exception of a few years passed at the University of North Carolina,) he has been an active, able and successful teacher of science in the same institution.

His last winter's course of lectures is spoken of at New Haven as the most full and brilliant of any delivered in the course of his long and useful life. The exhaustion which followed these labors aggravated the habitual infirmity of his constitution, and brought on the acute neuralgia under which he sunk.

The scientific labors and writings of the Professor have been prominently before the public during the period of nearly forty years, since he undertook the geological survey of North Carolina; and his books have been the source of a large income, which enabled him to make his beautiful home at York Square the seat of hospitality to the vast circle of literary and scientific men which is habitually found at New Haven.

His garden and grounds, we learn from a friend, were blooming in their richest luxuriance this morning, unconscious that the hand which had long tended them was finally withdrawn, and that the eye which had so lovingly watched them, was closed forever. His family cannot yet realize the desolation which must follow his removal from a home lately so full of light, and joy, and happiness. But they have the rich and enduring solace of his life-long care and counsel, his well-earned reputation, and his last words, "all is peace within."

Professor Olmsted was one of the most accomplished and best known of our men of science. He was a member of many of the scientific institutions of this country as well as of Europe, a large contributor to the various scientific periodicals, a voluminous author, and both as a teacher and a man universally beloved.

The Baptism of Henry Clay—A Question Settled.

ST. LOUIS, May 11, 1859.

W. A. BELL, ESQ.—Dear Sir: Your letter of the 4th inst., making inquiry as to the mode in which the Hon. Henry Clay was baptized by me, was duly received, and I seize the first leisure moment to send you an answer.

Mr. Clay was baptized in his parlor, at Ashland, on the 28th of June, 1847, in our usual way, by pouring a handful of water on his head in the name of the Holy Trinity; one of his daughters-in-law and four of his grand daughters being baptized at the same time, and in the same way.

Mr. Clay knew that the baptismal service of the Protestant Episcopal Church authorized immersion, whenever it was desired, and he knew that I occasionally administered the rite in that way, but in all our conversations on the subject of religion and of baptism, he never once alluded to immersion or made a single remark about it.

You received the impression that he was baptized by immersion, doubtless, from the fact that a day or two after this occurrence a Louisville, Ky., paper (and I think it was the paper published under the auspices of the Baptist Church,) announced that "Mr. Clay had been baptized in one of the beautiful ponds of Ashland." This statement was wholly gratuitous, and without the least foundation.

It may be proper for me, in this connection, to say, that the reason of his receiving this holy ordinance at home, was, that my congregation at the time were building a new church edifice, and we had no fitter place for the performance of these sacred rites.

I have answered your kind note in a hurry, but you can make what use you please of it.

I am, very truly yours, &c.

ED. F. BERKLEY,
Rector St. George's Church, St. Louis, Mo.

The Strawberry Season.

The strawberry season will be upon us this week. Even last week we had a foretaste of the good time coming. There was at least one strawberry party given, and strawberries and ice cream could be had at the ice cream fashionable resorts, at extravagant rates. Great preparations are being made for the shipment of the berry to other markets. Stacy, fruit-dealer, East Third street, expects to ship about sixteen hundred quarts per day. These heavy shipments add to the excellence of our own market. If it were not for the heavy demand at other points, our strawberry growers could not go into the business so extensively as they do, and would not have inducements equal to those at present offered for the production of the finest article that the soil can be made to yield.—Cincinnati Commercial, 18th.

Compliment to Mr. Cobden.

SOMETHING NEW!!! MITCHELL'S PATENT Metallic-Tipped Boot and Shoe.

An improvement has been applied to Boots and Shoes, by which a Great Saving in Expense is made. Every Boot and Shoe Dealer knows that Children will wear out at the toe the best constructed shoe in four to six weeks, and that it has hitherto defied the skill of manufacturers to obviate this difficulty.

THE "METALLIC TIP"

meets and overcomes it. A small piece of copper is neatly fastened to the toe of the Boot or Shoe, affording a complete protection to it, and rendering the efforts of the most inveterate stamper ineffectual to kick or wear it out.

We present this invention with the fullest knowledge of and experience in its Practical Utility. Having now for nearly two years been subjected to the severest tests, it has by its own intrinsic merits, actually surmounted every objection that could possibly be brought against it, as the accompanying certificates, which are but a fair average of hundreds of others, will abundantly corroborate. We have no hesitation in saying that the Metallic-Tipped Shoe is destined to entirely supersede, for Children and Youth, the old style; and we consider it a moderate statement, that one pair of the Metallic Tips will outwear two to three pairs of the old style, making a saving of nearly two-thirds in the expense of shoes.

MESSRS. WADSWORTH & WELLS, OF CHICAGO, Have been appointed Agents for the sale of the Boots and Shoes, and are authorized to dispose of Town and County Rights. Communications addressed to them or the undersigned will receive proper attention.

CHASE, McKINNEY & CO., 48 and 50 Water St., Boston, Mass.

N. B.—This invention is a complete protection from the cutting of the Prairie Grasses, and is especially adapted to Miners' use, and all occupations which particularly expose the toe of the boot or shoe to being cut or worn. [illegible]

BY TELEGRAPH.

Two Days Later from Europe.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER VIGO.

The Alliance between France and Russia Denied.

ADVANCE OF THE AUSTRIANS INTO PIEDMONT.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., May 17.—The steamship Vigo, from Belfast, May 4th, at Queenstown, May 6th, passed Cape Race last night en route for New York. Her news was obtained by Mr. Farrell, manager of the Associated Press news arrangements at the Cape. He only reached that point yesterday with his boat, and has thus signalized the first day of his residence at Cape Race, by boarding an European steamer.

The Swiss Federal Assembly has approved of the declaration of neutrality, and the measures of defence taken by the Federal Council, and has appointed Gen. De Farier Commander-in-Chief of the army of Switzerland.

The Bank of Prussia, on the 3d of May, raised the rate of discount to 5 per cent.

INDIA.—The following telegraph, dated Alexandria, April 27th, has been received by the British Consul there:

The mail steamer has arrived at Suez from Bombay, and brings the following news: On the 2d of April, Rajah Maunsigh surrendered to Major Deane five columns at Manadra.

Tantia Topee was captured on the 8th by that force assisted by the above-named chief, and by Col. Deawies and Richero.

The combined movement attacked the rebels in front and rear, killing in one fight 500 of them, including three of their officers. The body of the rebels are still in Neapol.

ALEXANDRIA, April 27.—The mail steamer Cairo arrived last evening, Lord Elgin on board.

A dispatch from Paris of the 6th says the Moniteur, this A. M., contains the following:

"ALEXANDRIA, May 4th, Eve.

The Austrians who had crossed the Po in small numbers at Camp Ria and Po and pushed their vanguard as far as Salla have crossed the river. The Austrian divisions reported on the right bank are still threatening the passage of the Po at Prassinate, but the river being much swollen by rain, offers another obstacle to their crossing. The rain continues and the low ground is covered with water."

The Moniteur also contains the following:

"PARMA, May 5th.

The reigning duchess entered Parma yesterday. Part of the troops had gone to meet her and another part was drawn up along the roads."

The London Times of the 6th, speaking of the military operations, says that they have come to no other result than that after having been seven days on Sardinian soil, the invaders have not advanced more than thirty-five miles from the frontier river.

It seems as though Austria had staked heavily for an opportunity, has won it, and now thrown it away. They have gained nothing by their choice of movements and sudden initiative, except the power of making forced contributions in the enemy's country, while all the positions Sardinia holds are connected by lines of railroad with each other, and by Alpine passes into France.

The Times says the Austrian banking firm just failed at Vienna was extensively large. Their liabilities are reported at £2,000,000, but the sum is mere conjecture.

The markets for Russian produce remained flat.

A telegram from St. Petersburgh announces an advance of 6 rubles in the price of tallow—the quotations being 98 rubles, or 100 to 97 rubles on the spot, and for delivery in June.

Exchange on London had fallen to 33¼.

The death of the Duke of Leeds is announced.

Lord Godolphin is his successor.

The Duke of Malakoff had an audience of Queen Victoria on Thursday and delivered his letters of recall.

The members returned to the new House of Commons up to Thursday night amounted to 552. The Times estimates the total ministerial gain at 17, and the Herald at 24.

The Times' city article of Thursday evening says: This has been settling day in English funds, and on the whole passed off well. No failures were declared, and delays have been granted in all cases of doubt to the end of the week.

The Bank of England will now make advances to their customers on six months bills at 3½ per cent. The demand for discount at the advanced rate was very active, both in the bank and the open market. The joint stock banks have raised their allowance on deposits 1 per cent, the rates being now 3½ per cent. The raising of the raising of the rates to 4½ per cent is the result merely of the movement of the public. There is really no very excessive pressure for immediate wants on the part of the mercantile body, but the enormous outlay consequent on the general arming of Europe absorbs specie. These causes created an increase in the value of capital during the two months preceding the declaration of war against Russia, and the bank lost about £1,600,000 of bullion. The succeeding two months it lost an additional £2,100,000, and from that day up till nearly the eve of the conquest there was no serious reduction.

ADDITIONAL FROM INDIA.—On the 2d the columns under Colonels Sales and Rich, in combined movement, overtook the rebels in Serouga Jungle, and killed 500 of them. Tantia Topee was present. The British loss was trifling.

The Vigo has 480 passengers for New York, and all on board were well.

The foregoing summary of news was made up on board of her.

The Cork papers to hand contain nothing in relation to the Liverpool cotton market, and the commercial intelligence is very scanty. Consols were quoted at 1 o'clock P. M., of the 6th at 90⅛ for money and account, and the new 3 per cents at 89¼@89½. The closing rates were—for Consols, 90⅛ for money and account; and the 3 per cents at 89½.

Additional by the Arago.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The steamship Arago arrived this morning, from Southampton on the evening of the 4th.

VIENNA, May 3.—The Austrian army had advanced without any serious combat to Cambrocazzo and Lolello.

PARIS, May 4.—Military volunteers for two years are accepted. A war credit of 90,000,000 francs is to be contracted, by a national subscription.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 3d.—The official Journal is authorized to declare most positively that there exists no alliance offensive and defensive, between Russia and any other power whatsoever.

Consols closed on the 4th, at 90⅛@90¼ for money and account.

The statement that Trieste and the surrounding country is in a state of seige, has been confirmed. The same has been done by Venice and Verona.

It appears that the bridge at Buffalora was destroyed by the Piedmontese on returning.

The Emperor of Austria had addressed an order of the day to Gen. Ginlay's troops, which concludes thus:

"Soldiers of the second army! It is for you to carry to victory the unstained flag of Austria. March to the combat with the blessing of God and the confidence of the Emperor."

Returning from Pike's Peak.

ST. LOUIS, May 17.—A letter dated Fort Kearney, May 8th, says that the Pike's Peak emigrants are returning in droves. Nine hundred wagons had passed the Fort in a week. The emigrants were in an extremely destitute condition, and were selling their wagons, horses and outfits for almost nothing.

The St. Joseph Gazette publishes a report of a serious difficulty between the inhabitants of Auraria and Denver City, resulting in the burning of both towns. Local rivalry is said to be the cause. The report needs confirmation.

LEAVENWORTH, May 17.—Letters from Denver City, dated April 18th, represent great scarcity of provisions at the mines, and much suffering among the emigrants. Several deaths from starvation are reported, and emigrants were arriving in a destitute condition. An abundance of provisions, however, was on the way from here and other points.

Contrary reports prevailed regarding the mining prospects. The general tenor of the intelligence is not encouraging, but the unfavorable accounts are ascribed to the destitute and discontented emigrants. No remittances of dust or rich discoveries have been announced.

Measures have been initiated towards forming a new State. Delegates are to meet at Denver City in June, to frame a State Constitution.

The Overland express, with two weeks later news, will be due on Wednesday. Arrangements are progressing for a public demonstration of its arrival.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Mr. John Appleton has gone to Maine to look after the delegates for the Charleston Convention, who are to be chosen next month. Mr. Buchanan is laying traps for the capture of those States which can give no Democratic votes, regarding them as likely to be the most easily managed.

The Post-Office revenues for the present and next quarter are estimated at $2,000,000.

When Commodore Kearney was detached from the New York Yard for obstructing the political designs of the Administration and was transferred here, the intention of the Administration was only to make him the locum tenens of the Presidency of the Light House Board till the return of Commodore Shubrick, who is the special pet of Mr. Secretary Toucey.

Fire and Tornado in Memphis.

MEMPHIS, May 17.—Stevenson's block, consisting of eight buildings, located on the corner of Washington and Main streets was burned last night. The sufferers are: Lent & Trabeau, Frank Smith & Co., McComb & Co., J. L. Case & Co., S. M. Coates, H. Dow, and H. H. Mette. Loss, $150,000. Partially insured. During the fire there was a severe tornado, accompanied with rain and hail, unroofing houses, &c.

MONETARY.

TUESDAY EVENING, May 17, 1859.

The demand for exchange is rather more active to-day; but rates are without change. It must be quoted close at 2 per cent.

Currency continues abundant, and discounts easy at 10 per cent.

Gold 2 per cent. Street rates nominal at 1@1½@2 per cent. per month, with very little good paper to be had above the lowest figure.

ST. LOUIS.—The Democrat of yesterday says:

The money market has been undergoing very little change in the past few days. The banks, however, have reduced their discounts somewhat, but, as yet, this has not affected regular customers. Good paper has not gone begging by any means. The weekly statement of the banks shows an aggregate decrease in outstanding circulation of $13,515; an increase in exchange maturing of $102,789, and a decrease in coin of $82,471. Eastern exchange was in less active request to-day, the supply being nearer the demand than it has been for a few days. The rate is still ¼ premium for bankable funds, and the same is the price of sight exchange on New Orleans. Time bills are without change. Currency is less abundant, and bankers do not feel any undue pressure in respect to this commodity. The buying rate is still ¼ per cent. discount.

CINCINNATI.—The Gazette of Monday, reports:

The demand for money on Saturday, was not quite equal to the supply, and the market was easy, but rates of interest remained firm at 10@12 per cent.

There was no new feature in market for Eastern Exchange. The supply and demand were about equal, and consumers were freely met by dealers at ¼ prem. We make some slight changes in the buying rates, which were more settled and easier, on Saturday than previously. New Orleans Sight is saleable at our quotations. The supply and demand are both light. There is not much demand for gold except for shipment. Eastern bills continue in fair supply, with a good demand at equal to 6 per cent. per annum. We quote:

	Buying.	Selling.
New York Sight	40 prem.	⅜@½ prem.
American Gold	40 prem.	40@50 prem.

NEW YORK.—The Evening Post of Saturday says:

The Money Market is sensibly easier to-day, and call loans are negotiable at 4½@5 per cent. on first class collatterals, mainly at the inside figure. After two o'clock yesterday the supply on offer was much larger and the demand less active. The market has lost much of the animation apparent yesterday.

In regard to stocks and the crops, the Times of the same date has the following:

We have to report a firmer Stock Exchange to-day. Prices have not only recovered from the suspension noticed yesterday, but are generally higher than immediately before that event. The buyers are more numerous and well distributed, and several of the speculative shares appear to have a specific support for the rise. New York Central rose from 70¼ to 71¼, closing firm; Rock Island from 59¼ to 61¼ per cent., also closing firm; Galena advanced to 63 per cent.; Michigan Central to 42@42¼, and Cleveland and Toledo to 26¼ per cent. There is an improving tendency through the Western list, based, in part, on the rapid advance in the Grain and Provision trade, and the advices from the country to the effect that the new crop looks so promising, that the old supplies of Wheat, Corn, Flour, and Meat Provisions will be drawn rapidly to the seaboard markets by the war prices in Europe. We have no means of estimating the effect which this is to have upon the immediate traffic on the Western lines, but there is much encouragement in all the reports which come from that quarter as to the extent and appearance of the Wheat fields, and of Corn planting for the coming harvest.

COMMERCIAL.

TUESDAY EVENING, May 17, 1859.

WEEKLY REVIEW.—We have had another week of delightful weather—bright, sunny days, interspersed with pleasant showers. The farmers all over the Northwest are busy planting Corn, and the war news has encouraged them to extend their breadth considerably. The Winter Wheat in the southern part of the State is all headed out, and will be ready for the sickle in from ten to twenty days. We hear of some fields that may be ready to cut within a week, should the weather prove favorable. The Spring grain is also progressing favorably.

The following tables show the total imports and exports of leading articles of commerce, by Lake, Canal and Eastern and Western Railways:

There was a decided reaction in the Wheat market to-day, which was as much unnaturally depressed as it was excited yesterday. Much of the panic, however, was due to the uneasiness of new operators, who purchased yesterday at extreme rates. In the afternoon, however, the same trepidation did not exist, although the market was weak and unsettled. The transactions show a decline of 10c on No. 1 Red from the extreme prices paid yesterday. No, 2 was in good request, however, and did not share in the dullness. Standard Spring declined 6c; and No. 2 Spring 1@2c. Sales amount to about 34,000 bushels, at $1.63@1.69 for No. 1 Red; $1.46@1.50 for No 2 Red; $1.40 for No. 1 Spring. $1.24@1.27 for Standard Spring; and $1.14@1.15 for No. 2 Spring—the market closing quiet at $1.64@1.65 for No. 1 Red and $1.24 for Standard. Flour was neglected, there being but few buyers and not much pressing on the market. A few brands of Winter extra were sold at $8.00 and medium Spring Extras at $6.25@6.40. Corn was in active request, and advanced 1@2c—closing quiet. About 30,000 bushels changed hands at 87½@88c for prime River, afloat; and 84@85c for No. 1 in store. Oats, Rye and Barley unchanged. Provisions very firm, with sales of Mess Pork at $19 and Rumps at $13.50. Lard inactive, but firmly held at 12@12½c. Highwines quiet.

LATER.—After the above was written, the Liverpool markets by the Vigo was telegraphed—showing a heavy decline in breadstuffs. This news fell like a bombshell among the holders of wheat, and the markets rapidly declined 8@10c. About 15,00 bu were sold during the panic at $1.55@1.58 for No. 1 Red and $1.15 for Standard Spring—the market closing weak, with no buyers at the inside quotations.

NEW YORK.—The United States Economist of the 14th says:

The actual effect is seen in a few prices in New York, as follows:

May 10	$7.00	$1.55	92c	$16.18	$9.00	$23.00

THE EXCITEMENT IN BREADSTUFFS IN LONDON.—A correspondent of the U. S. Economist of the 14th writes from London, under date of April 29th, as follows:

* * * In the midst of the general stagnation that for the time prevails, there is one interest rubbing hands no doubt and desiring that the fighting may begin as soon as possible, but that it may be prolonged until the combatants are fully worn out. I was assured yesterday that the Mark Lane trade is wild, and wheat scarcely to be had at any price. In some of the agricultural districts the advance is fully fifteen shillings on the quarter, or say fifty cents on the bushel, while Mark Lane wheat not saleable a week ago at forty shillings a quarter, is held and not sold at fifty-three shillings; an advance not much behind that in the country districts. Such a state of things in the grain trade will please your western farmers quite as well as it pleases farmers here, and town lots, and improved farms and such commodities will begin again to think seriously of the propriety of looking up. But already here, in London, we have full experience of the fact that while farmers are benefitted by the warlike state and prospects, other people pay the full measure of that advantage from their breeches pocket. Yesterday, on the shortest notice possible, household bread advanced two cents per four pound loaf, and is likely to be advanced further in the course of to-morrow.

FLOUR AND WHEAT IN DETROIT.—The Detroit Advertiser reports, 19,000 bbls flour and 11,955 bu wheat in store in that city.

Weekly Review of Chicago Market.

TUESDAY EVENING, May 17, 1859.

FREIGHTS—Very few vessels have been engaged for freight during the past week—shippers of grain having been out of the market. The charters made were:—Schr. Wild Rover, wheat to Ogdensburgh at 6½c; schr. Gross, wheat to Oswego at 5½; prop. Globe, corn to Buffalo at 2½c; prop. Iowa, provisions and scrap iron to New York at $4 per ton; schr. White Cloud, corn to Oswego at 5c; schr. Enterprise, wheat to Buffalo at 3c. TO-DAY the prop. Potomac takes corn to Buffalo at 3c, and the Prop. Free State, wheat to Buffalo at 3½c. RAILROAD FREIGHTS.—The railways are still carrying 4th class freight at 30c per 100 lbs to NewYork; but it is thought that the railroad convention now in session in New York City will arrange matters so as to put an end to the quarrel which caused such low rates.

FLOUR—Receipts last week, 10,454 bbls; shipments, 10,319 bbls. The market during the week has been active and buoyant, and prices have advanced since our last weekly review 75c@$1.00 per bbl. At the beginning of the week the demand was chiefly for choice brands of Winter Wheat; but towards the close, the inquiry became more general. During the past few days there has been very little good flour offering—the great bulk of the stock being in the hands of speculators, who hold it off the market at extreme rates. Besides the speculative demand, there has been a good city trade—dealers having shown some anxiety to secure stocks before the market goes higher, as there is a very general belief that it will, unless the European war ceases. The sales of the week, with the prices each day, will be found in the following table:

Date.	No bbls sold.	Winter Extra.		Spring Extra.
11th	5,100	$7.25	@7.55	$5.50	@7.00
12th	2,800	7.00	7.75	6.00	6.25
13th	2,500	7.60	8.00	6.25	7.00
14th	500	....	8.00	6.25	6.40
16th	1,800	7.62½	@7.87½	6.00	8.00
17th	500	....	8.00	6.25	6.40

TO-DAY the market was flat and the transactions limited. Sales were:—45 bbls "White Pigeon" Winter at $8.00; 70 bbls "Phillips" do at $8.00; 127 bbls "Union" Spring Extra at $6.25; 100 bbls good Spring Extra at $6.40.

WHEAT—Receipts last week, 88,604 bu; shipments, 88,562 bu. Excitement has been the chief characteristic of the wheat market during the past week. After the arrival of the Persia there was considerable anxiety manifested among all parties, and up till Saturday the market was extremely sensitive, and fluctuated generally 3@5c ₩ bushel every day. The demand was chiefly for speculation—shippers having as a general thing withdrawn. The fever, however, did not reach its height till yesterday, when the news by the Weser and Borrusia was received—the market advancing 8@10c on all grades. The receipts during the week show a satisfactory increase over those of any previous week this season—the result of the high prices of the past two weeks. As soon as the farmers are over with their planting, we may expect a still further augmentation of our stocks. The transactions during the week have been large. They will be found, day by day, in the following table, with the prices at which each grade sold:

Date.	No. bu sold.	No. 1 Red.		No. 2 Red.		Stan'rd Spring.		No. 2 Spring.
11th	90,000	$1.61	@1.68	$1.38	@1.40	$1.20	@1.27	$1.13	@1.15
12th	70,000	1.60	1.63	1.38	1.40	1.20	1.25	1.12	1.14
13th	65,000	1.62½	1.67½	1.38	1.45	1.22	1.25	1.12	1.16
14th	53,000	1.60	1.65	1.38	1.40	1.18	1.20	1.10	1.12
16th	100,000	1.65	1.73	1.45	1.50	1.18	1.30	1.11	1.16

TO-DAY the market was extremely dull and spiritless, under discouraging news from New York, and No. 1 Red during the course of the day dropped 18c from the extreme price of yesterday. Sales were: WINTER—1,000 bu No. 1 Red at $1.70, buyer's option all the week; 2,000 bu do at 1.69; 1,000 bu do at 1.68; 3,000 bu do at 1.65; 2,000 bu do at 1.64½; 2,000 bu do at 1.64; 1,000 bu do at 1.63; 2,000 bu do at 1.60; 3,000 bu do at 1.58; 4,000 bu do at 1.57; 8,000 bu do at 1.55; 1,000 bu No. 2 Red at 1.45; 300 bu do at 1.46; 8,000 bu do at 1.50. SPRING—300 bu No. 1 at 1.40; 4,000 bu Standard at 1.27; 3,500 bu do at 1.26; 5,000 bu do at 1.25; 1,000 bu do at 1.24; 3,000 bu do at 1.15; 2,500 bu No. 2 Spring at 1.15; 700 bu do at 1.14—market closing extremely depressed.

CORN—Receipts last week, 77,235 bu; shipments, 86,255 bu. The corn market, though not so excited as wheat, has been active and buoyant under a good shipping request. During the week we note an advance on all grades of 8@9c per bushel since our last weekly review. River and Canal Corn has arrived sparingly, while there has been an active demand. The sales of the week will be found, day by day, in the following table—the prices of Canal and River being given "afloat," and No. 1 Railroad "in store:"

Date.	Amount sold, bu.	River.	Canal.	No. 1.
11th	20,000	— @80c	— @80c	77 @78c
12th	25,000	— @84½	— @81	77 @81½
13th	12,000	....	....	82 @83
14th	10,000	....	— @83½	82 @83
16th	80,000	— @87½	85 @87	83 @84
17th	30,000	87½@88	— @86	84 @85

TO-DAY the market was firmer, and sales show an advance of 1@2c. Sales were: 1,000 bu prime River at 88c afloat; 5,000 bu White River at 88c f. o. b.; 5,000 bu Canal at 86c afloat; 8,000 bu No 1 Railroad at 84c in store; 2,500 bu do at 85c in store—market closing quiet.

OATS—Receipts last week, 17,334 bu; shipments, 15,707 bu. The market during the week, though quiet, has been firm at the advance noted a week ago; and in some instances an advance of 1@2c has been gained, especially on choice lots of old crop. No 1 new crop has sold freely at 55c in store, and choice old crop at 60c in store. TO-DAY the market was quiet. Sales were: 500 bu No 1 (extra) at 57c in store; 300 bu uninspected at 54c on track.

RYE—Receipts last week, 684 bu; shipments, 466 bu. During the week an advance of 10@11c has been gained—sales having been made at $1.06@1.11 ₩ 60 lbs at depot, at which the market closes nominal.

BARLEY—Receipts last week, 1,722 bu; shipments, 220 bu. The market during the week has been more active, with a good demand for No 2, at an advance of 7@8c ₩ bushel—closing at 85@88c in store. No 1 has been neglected till TO-DAY, when 10,000 bushels were sold at private terms. We quote it nominal at 75@80c in store. Under an impression that our stock during the next few months will be light, we observe that a cargo of Malt has been shipped from Buffalo to this port on the schr Moselle.

ALCOHOL—Receipts last week, 115 bbls; shipments, 116 bbls. The advance in Highwines has caused a corresponding rise in Alcohol, which has advanced during the week 10@12c—closing at 53@55c.

BROOM CORN—Receipts, 687 lbs; shipments, 1630 lbs. Market quiet and nominal at $90@140 ₩ ton.

CORN MEAL—During the week the market has advanced $3 per ton—closing at $32@33 for Unbolted, and $34@35 for Bolted.

During the past week the Lumber dealers have held a meeting with a view to an understanding concerning the prices of lumber this season. As the meeting was not public, we are not aware of the measures under consideration; but we have been informed that the majority of the dealers are of the opinion that the prices current in this market are ruinously low, and that an advance is absolutely necessary. The meeting was adjourned till Friday evening next, when it is expected something will transpire.

The Lumber Manufacturers' Association meet daily at their rooms in Lind's block, where cargoes are bought and sold, vessels and boats chartered, &c. It is well attended by manufacturers and city and country dealers.

LUMBER—Notwithstanding the increase in the receipts during the past week, cargoes seem to be more than ever in demand. The supply during the past week has hardly any day been equal to the demand, especially for choice boards and strips. Prices of cargoes during the week have have been considerably stiffer. Fair cargoes of boards and strips mixed have been sold at $8@8.50, and good to extra, $9@10 ₩ thousand. A large number of the cargoes arriving are evidently assorted at the mills "to sell"—being generally of a very different quality from the usual run of the mills. Such cargoes are sold usually at 7@7.50; and they are really dearer than good, fairly made up cargoes. The sales reported during the week were as follows:

CARGOES SOLD DURING THE WEEK.

Bark Newman, from Oconto, mixed at $8.

Schr Charley Hibbard, from Manitowoc, mixed, at 7.50.

SALES IN THE YARDS.—The business of the week has been comparatively light. The agriculturists all over the Northwest have been unusually busy in planting, and till that is over, we need not expect much demand. The stocks in the city, however, are all pretty low; and dealers generally have advanced their prices. There is a great scarcity of 1¼ and 1½ inch boards; and upper qualities in many yards are very low. By reference to our quotations below, it will be seen that we quote 1st clear, $32@30; 2d clear, 29@25; and common boards, 8.75@10.

SHINGLES—The receipts continue liberal; but prices remain unchanged. Prime A shaved still command $2.50. During the week, several lots of A shingles were sold at 2.25@2.37½ afloat; but they were not a first-rate article. Several cargoes of sawed shingles were sold at 1.75@2.25.

LATH, ETC.—During the week, 500,000 pcs Lath afloat were sold at $1.35; but at the close the market is a shade firmer. Posts remain dull.

The following table shows the quotations current among the dealers—delivered at the cars:

Albany Lumber Market—May 14.

[Abridged from Albany Evening Journal.]

The demand for the most part has been good for all descriptions of lumber, particularly for good, of which the supply has been limited, consequently only a moderate business has been done. The great bulk of the receipts have consisted of Hemlock and Spruce, though some Pine has been received from the Ottawa river, and some Clear Pine, Whitewood, Walnut and Sycamore from the West, via Buffalo and the Erie Canal. The sales have been mainly confined to Hemlock, Spruce and Clear Pine. The demand is quite active for inch Box Lumber and Pine Floor Plank, which are scarce. Prices for all description of lumber rule pretty firm; and with the prospective falling off in the supplies, it is anticipated that the market will rule pretty steady throughout the season, though there may be some fluctuations in prices of some descriptions of which the supply may exceed the demand.

The great bulk of the Lumber in the District sold and awaiting shipment upon the opening of navigation, has been carried off; and the receipt of new Lumber this season, scattered as it is over the entire mart, gives it an empty appearance. A number of vessels have been laden and despatched to the South and East, and there are yet a few at the dock taking in cargoes, one of which we noticed was a first-class schooner, bound for Richmond, Va., with an entire cargo of Syracuse.

The receipts by the Erie and Champlain Canals during the first week in May, in the years named, were as follows:

	Boards and Scantling, ft.	Shingles, M.	Timber, C. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1859	5,534,000	1,542	4,080	4,157,300

The small supplies during the week can in a great measure be attributed to the delays on the Oswego and Chemung Canals.

The Receipts by the Erie and Champlain Canals from the opening of navigation to May 8th, in the year named, were as follows:

	Boards and Scantling, ft.	Shingles, M.	Timber, C. ft.	Staves, lbs.
1859	16,039,100	5,078	26,220	6,561,500

The receipts of Boards and Scantling are thus far in excess of any previous season except '53, and fall but little short of that year. The receipts of Staves are largely in excess of previous seasons, which may in a good degree be attributed to the low freight on the Erie Canal from Buffalo to this city.

Boston Lumber Market—May 14.

[From the Boston Commercial Bulletin.]

The demand for most descriptions of Lumber is good; the highest quotations are obtained for good cargoes. The receipts of choice Michigan and Canada are much larger than usual at this season. Prices for these articles continue to rule low. Market firm at an advance of $1 to $1.50. The stocks of shipping boards, of both Eastern and Canada, are considerably reduced—there are but few dry wintered over in Maine. The new sawing will not be sufficiently dry for shipping before August.

TO VESSEL CAPTAINS.—The Detroit Free Press, of Saturday says:—"It not unfrequently happens that vessels pass Detroit whose names do not appear in the published list. The reason is that they very often pass close to the Canada shore, and very often leave their boats over the stern, so that it is impossible to make out their names. If Captains, therefore, who take the Canada shore, would place their burgee over the side of the vessel while passing the city, the name could be easily made out from this side, and consequently published. It is a matter of interest to owners of vessels, of cargoes, and all."

THE WAR IN EUROPE—ITS P
FECTS ON THE WEST.

The Crimean War is recent an even the recollections of our fors, and indee all Western people, to call for any argum on the probable effects, this part of world, of a similar strife the present ju ture. It will be rememb that the pri of flour, grain, meats, and early all the p ducts of the Northwest, r to figures wh made it seem that the good time coming h actually come. The abstion of a quar of a million of men the Old Wo from the avocations opeace, requiri to be fed and clothed, and producing nothi but empty stomachs contly; the closi of ports whence the surplproducts of oth countries were shipped to markets of t world; the diversion of cal from the us channels of commerce to threat business killing—all these combined set a premiu on the staples of the West and resulted the most remarkable har of dollars had ever enjoyed. But ther effect, nearly so agreeable, will bqually well membered. The inflation prices and t unwonted prosperity consent upon the unnatural conditions, induche belief th that state of things was tot forever, a the investments and expends of the cou try were regulated very mun that opinio Hence, when the war ceased all wars mu cease, and the prices of whe corn and be came precipitately down to r former sta quo, there was not only a y general a grievous disappointment, cod with heav failures in different parts of country, but was found that the benefits ected to accr to the West from the long-coued season high prices, were only partialealized. Mon ey soon began to be tight. Sulations of al sorts became unpleasantly w, or took turn adverse to the speculatand times g harder and harder, until thrash of 1857 when it seemed that the endall things ha come. The late revulsion it to be attrib uted to the Crimean war, or s inopportun close, though doubtless eacontributed share to the result.

The effects of the war nowun in Europe upon the Northwest, will bilar to thos experienced in the late conin the Crimea The cultivation of the soil be largely in terrupted in France, Germaitaly, Austria and perhaps in England aRussia. Th ports of Austria will be baded, and the large export trade whichds its outle through the Danube, will bepended. Near ly all the large grain-producounties of Eu rope will become purchasers a greater or less extent in the Americarkets. Price will go up unquestionably, e degree that the war seems likely to beral and pro tracted. And nothing aptly, but a fail ure of our growing crops cavent a speedy return of the prosperous tif 1855–6.

But let it not be forgottent peace is the normal condition of the tl, and that a year or two of fighting is sure to turn the attention of the fighters n arrangement of their unsettled accounts. its present as pect, the war just commer in Piedmont bids fair to be bloody and continued.— Nothing in the elements of strife, or in the condition of the world ehore, suggests the idleness of a single mana single acre of decent soil in the West. the contrary, everything calls for strenuorful and un ceasing labor in the broad is of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa, suri and Min nesota. Let us then profit the lessons of the four years since the first was fired at Sebastopol. At best, the th times we shall soon enjoy from the mencement of hostilities in Europe, will not half a life time. But the capital thus fured to our far mers and business men, may not frittered away in useless luxuries, or lit up in spec ulations for the next century lize on, be come the basis of a great anduring pros perity.

ENGLAND'S DAN

Those in this country who have fected admiration of the constitutional on which Englishmen enjoy, and whose for the Empire to which they belong not poisoned by the prejudices and hatch war first kindled, and which the De party have kept alive, will hope that sent anticipations will not be realized, in this crisis of European affairs she spared the struggle for her national life they see the danger by which she is ened at home and abroad, and they the lest the despotisms by which she is surr ed, and by which she is intensely hated, make their league effective for the destru of her influence in the politics of the She has never been in more serious than now; and if the purposes of the whom she is menaced, as they are by developed, should point either to her de ment or subjugation, she has but one with which she can fend off, and that is lution. At the head of a movement would promise Republican or even well ed constitutional governments to those opp ed peoples who will be launched ag her, she could sweep the field of all batants hostile to herself in ninety d Let her unfurl in France, Italy, Hungary, Austria proper, the banner under which suth, Mazzini, and Louis Blanc would rally, on the broad folds of which Constitutio Liberty is inscribed, and the war, except the hunting down and destroying the N leons, Bombas and Francis Josephs by w the nations have been betrayed and tro under foot, would be at an end, and Eng in unison with the new order of things, be the arbiter of the destinies of the w It may be true that the prophecy of Napo is to be worked out—"In fifty years, will be all Republican or all Cossack!" her Aristocracy, a measure so decided be adopted only by direct compulsion even they could not hesitate between the certainty of Franco-Russian domina We, whose only wish is that the war sult in the liberation of the oppressed firmer establishment of Liberty and Justi the affairs of men, would not be unwill see England forced to such a conclusion desperate fight. She has often enough, all her nobleness, betrayed the popular to make such a struggle and such a ter tion necessary as a divine compensatio he sins which are justly laid at her door.
